Removal of cemetery items upsets family members

By MICHAEL H. BABICZ
Staff Reporter

One man's treasure is another's junk.

In the case of cemetery grave displays, a debate over how certain items were removed has triggered hard feelings among several family members who have loved ones in their final resting place at Hillside

Cemetery on Rte. 173 and Hillside Rd. in Antioch.

According to at least five family members, religious statues, small cars on child's graves and other artifacts — some of considerable value — were unceremoniously removed from the plots over the weekend of March 4.

Cemetery association representatives claimed signs detailing what would be allowed were posted last summer. Linda Walker from Lake Villa and her sister, LaVonne Pullenv from Antioch, said they did not notice the signs until March 5 after having been there the day prior.

"I had a decorated pole, which they left," Walker explained, noting her husband's grave has been there

Leadership for the future. That was the main focus for the 4-H Legislative Connection IV which Antioch Community High School (ACHS) junior Lauren Wennstrom participated in.

Wennstrom was selected to represent more than 285,000 Illinois 4-H members and leaders at the event held at the Illinois State Capitol in Springfield earlier this month.

Among the highlights Wennstrom had was a visit with State Rep. Timothy Osmond (R-Antioch). Osmond took Wennstrom onto the floor of the House of Representatives, which was in session during the day of her visit.

Lt. Gov. Corrine Wood addressed the 4-H Assembly at the capitol, which Wennstrom said was

Primary gives Antioch residents choices

By BRENDA BEITSCHER
Staff Reporter

On Tuesday, March 21, Illinois voters speak their minds in the General Primary Election. While there are no referenda on the ballots for Antioch, these communities will still have a chance to express their will by choosing candidates for a number of federal, state and local posts.

Voters will be required to select one ballot: Democratic (green), Republican (white) or Nonpartisan (pink). No candidates will appear on Nonpartisan ballots.

In the presidential election, the Democratic contender, Al Gore, runs unopposed after the withdrawals of Bill Bradley and Lyndon H. LaRouche, Jr., whose names appear on the ballot. The Republican choices are George W. Bush and Alan L.

Keyes, although the ballot will still indicate election drop-outs Gary Bauer, Steve Forbes and John McCain.

In the 8th Congressional District, the unopposed Democratic candidate for representative is Lance Pressl. The sole Republican candidate is incumbent Philip M. Crane.

In the 62nd Representative district, the sole Republican candidate for the General Assembly is Timothy H. Osmond.

There is no Democratic candidate on the ballot.

In Lake County, Mary "Margo" Nelson is running on the Democratic ballot for Circuit Court Clerk. Incumbent Sally Deadrick Coffelt runs unopposed on the Republican ballot.

Republican Michael J. Waller runs unopposed on any ticket for the

Lakes Region hosts fund-raiser

Cubs' Lefebvre to attend benefit for youth baseball

By BRENDA BEITSCHER

On Friday, March 24, from 7-11:30 p.m. the association will hold its final of four fund-raisers at the Lehman Mansion in Lake Villa. This one will be sponsored by Tim Nolan, a professional baseball instructor, coach and scout for the Philadelphia Phillies. He appeared as the right fielder for the L.A. Dodgers in the movie "Rookie of the Year." Jim and Steve's Sportscard Shop will be co-sponsors.

The evening will feature a special guest appearance by former Chicago Cubs manager Jim Lefebvre. There will be music, refreshments, raffles and a silent auction of sports memorabilia, including a bat signed by Sammy Sosa and a football signed by Walter Payton.

If soybeans were dreams, three years ago Rich Coles, chairman of the Lakes Region Youth Baseball Association, met a field full of them. He had just endured a fruitless struggle through four years of forest preserve red tape, when Lake Villa Mayor Frank Loffredo approached him with an offer Coles couldn't refuse.

"He asked me if the village could get land for a baseball field by trading off something the forest preserve wanted, would I still be motivated to do this," Coles recounted. "I was immediately enthused with their offer of 12.5 acres of soybean fields just off Grass Lake Rd."

Those soybeans have, against all odds, yielded a Little League complex of four full-sized baseball fields, a concession building and a parking lot. "I told the village board that I'd have it done in three years," Coles said. "Everybody told me that without a tax body or a park district this couldn't be done." To the ex-Marine, those were fighting words. "In fact, a lot of the people who said that are among our best contributors," he laughed.

The fields were born out of Coles' frustration with having to beg and borrow fields for games every season. "I was the guy they sent around to knock on doors," he recalled. The first concern was finding the money for the project. "Lakes Region Youth Baseball Association was founded as the fund-raising wing of the Lake Villa Township Baseball League," Coles explained. "It is not the league itself, which is the kids playing baseball."

Coles stressed that the motivation that drove him has always been

Crane plans to continue fighting taxes

By MICHAEL H. BABICZ
Staff Reporter

Incumbent Congressman Philip M. Crane (R-8th Dist.), running unopposed in the Republican congressional primary, outlines his platform.

"I will continue to represent the 8th Congressional District to the best of my ability," stated Crane from his Washington office.

"I realize burdensome taxes only infringe upon the public's ability to live freely," he explained. "For my tenure in Congress, I have battled against exorbitant federal taxes and increased government spending."

During the past year, Crane says among his tax reducing measures was a $792 billion tax relief package passed by Congress, but vetoed by President Bill Clinton.

In an attempt to combat that, Crane co-sponsored legislation to reduce the "marriage penalty tax," where the federal government "penalizes" couples for getting married. Reducing an onerous tax burden like that is "important to making families more apt to live freely and work to produce income for themselves, not the government," he said.

The bill is awaiting passage by the Senate, with it going on to the President for his signature prior to it becoming law.

The already passed legislation regarding the elimination of the social security earnings limit test for individuals age 65 to 70 is hoped by Crane to pass through the senate and the President. The bill would allow for seniors to continue to work without penalty on social security returns, explained Crane.

"I intend to continue to fight for projects to improve the quality of life for residents of the 8th Congressional District," Crane said. "Lake and northwest Cook County residents, for example, may look forward to improvements that will ease the concern over the threat of flooding along the upper reaches of the Des Plaines River, commuting difficulties to and from Chicago will be eased, and the maintenance and restoration of wetlands will be continued."

Crane notes he played an instrumental role in securing authorization for the new U.S. Coast Guard helicopter rescue unit to serve the southwestern shore of Lake Michigan. The unit will be stationed in Waukegan, able to reach victims of boating or aviation accidents in that vicinity 15 to 20 minutes quicker than the unit which was transferred to Muskegon, Mich. several years ago.

For Metra, Crane was involved in securing $25 million for work on the three commuter rail line improvement projects in the Chicagoland area. A proposal to extend Metra's North Central Line to Antioch, as far as Mundelein, would receive approximately $14.8 million under the bill or 60 percent of the $25 million appropriated.

Funding in the amount of $1,075,000 for completion of work on the Des Plaines River Wetlands Demonstration Project outside Wadsworth was obtained, due in part to Crane's involvement.

"When completed, this internationally recognized research effort will have produced the kind of information communities across Illinois and throughout the country will use to maintain and restore wetlands," Crane said. "In turn, those wetlands will help communities improve water quality, conserve valuable habitat and reduce flooding."

In the area of international trade, Crane intends to work "diligently to expand and improve U.S. trade with other countries throughout the world." The significant benefits of improved trade are an increase in jobs and expanded economy, according to Crane.

"It is with zest and determination I will continue my fight for my good neighbors of the 8th Congressional District," Crane said. "I am buoyed with the enthusiasm I need from our recent legislative achievements to look forward to representing (the 8th District) in the next Congress."

Pressl looks for win in November

By MICHAEL H. BABICZ
Staff Reporter

Lance Pressl, the lone Democratic candidate for the 8th Congressional Dist. nomination in the March 21 primary election, is wasting little time in attacking his Republican incumbent opponent in the fall election.

"Voters in the 8th Congressional Dist. will have the best chance to date to elect a moderate who represents their core values and who is willing to fight for what is right for their families," Pressl stated regarding the upcoming primary. "The people of the district don't need a right-wing ideologue as their congressman. They need a representative protecting their tax dollars and bringing a common sense approach to governing."

"I predict Lance Pressl will be the next U.S. Representative from the 8th Congressional District," he stated. "I won't win because Phil Crane has been an absentee legislator or because for nearly 30 years he's been touring the world at taxpayers' expense and thinking about foreign trade policy."

"I will win because I support protecting social security for the long term; improving and demanding more from our public education system; making health care more accessible and affordable for working families; and passing reasonable gun-control laws," Pressl emphasized.

"Phil Crane has had 30 years to show support for these issues," added Pressl. "Unfortunately, Phil Crane has been wrong far too long."

According to Pressl's statement, he has distinguished himself in the public, private and nonprofit sectors. Pressl has devoted his professional life "to understanding and improving government and the public policy process."

Motykas enjoy New Zealand experience they won in Antioch Rotary's auction

Bruce Motyka and his wife, Kim, enjoyed a trip to New Zealand which was won in the annual Antioch Rotary Club auction.

Bruce reported to the Rotary luncheon gathering March 9 that the trip was most enjoyable, and even better than expected.

"Take everything from Alaska and Hawaii, and condense it into a country covering the space of California," Bruce said. "Everything you spend a lifetime trying to see, you can see within one country virtually at the same time."

The Rotarians who offered the "farm stay" and other Rotarians who helped to show Bruce and Kim a good time went above and beyond, according to Bruce.

One of the outstanding memories was being picked up by a "fire truck limousine" to take

With plenty of pictures to help enhance his talk, Bruce gave an enthusiastic endorsement to those thinking about bidding on next year's trips.

Bruce encouraged the Antioch Rotarians to make sure to offer the same kind of hospitality to any visiting Rotarians who may journey to this part of the world.

Speaking of Rotarians, congratulations to Dr. Dennis Hockney, Antioch Community High School superintendent, on his having the winning ticket in the Antioch Chamber of Commerce and Industry's Disney World Florida vacation raffle.

since 1977 and nothing like this had ever happened before.

"A permanent vase was taken, which they didn't find in the dumpster," Walker said, admitting one of the persons who was supervising the cleanup said they would contact a monument company and try to replace the vase.

Joe Gutowski, who has been a member of the cemetery staff for the past 15 years, said the signs were posted last summer at each entrance and at the east end of the cemetery grounds. "You can't miss them," Gutowski said, noting the signs were revamped with the regulations governing some of the displays and stating they would be removed March 1.

"I pick up the grave blankets, wreaths, flowers and things like that," Gutowski said. "I leave everything else."

The items in question were removed under the direction of Bob Horton, cemetery association president. Horton was unavailable for comment despite repeated attempts to contact him.

"If anybody wanted to save anything, they needed to get it off the grave by March 1," Gutowski said, regarding the regulation which was posted. "Anything left could be disposed of after that."

Gutowski said it is his understanding a copy of the cemetery association's rules and regulations is given to each individual purchasing a lot when they receive their deed.

"Nothing ever came to me," Walker said about notification of the regulation. "I never saw any signs, but there was a new piece added to the sign [which she claimed was not there March 4, but was March 5], and it said they were taking decorations, but doesn't say anything about momentos."

"I go there three to four times per week, and my sister is there daily," Walker said, admitting if the vase is replaced, she was able to recover all of her items. "Neither of us ever saw anything. It really hurt a lot of people."

Elaine Braven from Wisconsin and Bard Quirk from Antioch were both "devastated." Each had crosses marking graves which had not yet had headstones put on them.

"We're not against the decorations, but some people say it looks like a gypsy land," Gutowski said, noting the association had received complaints from other people who have plots in the cemetery.

Trying to maintain the cemetery, especially when it comes to mowing grass, is made difficult with the location and number of items on some of the graves.

"They have always taken the Christmas decorations," said Pullen, who visits the grave of her parents, husband, son and brother-in-law, on a daily basis. "This time, they were doing a clean sweep. They've never done this before. They always removed wreaths, grave blankets, flowers, things like that."

"I want people to know it wasn't kids that did this," Pullen, whose father has been buried at Hillside since 1976, said. "Some people who stopped by the cemetery and saw their items gone wanted to know if it was vandals. It was not. But it is heartbreaking."

Some items have been retrieved from the dumpster and put next to it by Pullen and Walker. They recommend anyone who may have items to check as soon as possible.

both an enlightening and interesting speech.

A visit to the state supreme court chambers and the Illinois Senate were admittedly not quite as interesting because they were not in session.

"I loved it," Wennstrom said of her Springfield experience. "It was an incredible learning experience. It was like going through government class in one day."

"There was a lot to absorb," Wennstrom said, adding the role of the 4-H delegation was somewhat like lobbyists. "Our visit did a lot to promote 4-H for the farm bureau portion of the budget."

"Every year there is a state fair 4-H show," Wennstrom explained. "If a project does well at the county fair show, then you can go on to state."

A "superior" rating in animal science for Wennstrom's project which she showed at the state show last fall helped to earn her the invitation to attend the Connection program.

Wennstrom did a project on horses. The project centered around horses and dressage.

Wennstrom has a half-quarter horse and Arabian named Thunder, which is kept at a stable in Richmond.

Thunder was a "kind of a rescue case," explained Wennstrom. "The barn that owned him wasn't taking adequate care of him."

Besides caring for her own horse, Wennstrom helps with her cousin's horses and used to teach beginning riding lessons.

In addition to the local 4-H chapter involvement, Wennstrom is a member of 4-H Ambassadors, which does a lot of community service and runs a lot of programs.

"A lot of people think 4-H is just involving agricultural projects," Wennstrom explained. "It includes computer classes and a lot of different projects. It's not just sewing and knitting."

A focus of the Ambassadors program is to help expand 4-H members' horizons involving leadership.

"I've found it's a lot of fun," Wennstrom said. "I like to get the word out about 4-H and do a lot for the community."

An example of a successful Ambassadors project was the "Can Make A Difference" food drive which resulted in over two tons of food collected and distributed to area food pantries.

"It's very rewarding," Wennstrom added.

As president of her local 4-H chapter, Wennstrom noticed some similarities between how the House of Representatives conducts business and the way things happen at the 4-H meetings. There are motions with seconds, plus discussion, and votes.

"It gave me some ideas of how to run our meetings and the committees we have," Wennstrom said.

For her personal future, Wennstrom sees a strong possibility she may become involved in some type of government role.

"I have strong views on urban development wiping out wildlife and creating traffic," Wennstrom stated.

Regarding the role which she may take, she sees it more involving environmental studies, specifically natural resources.

An Antioch resident, she is the daughter of Patty and Dave Wennstrom and sister of Christopher, 13.

the boys and girls of the league itself. "This is always about the kids," he said. "As I told the previous police chief of Lake Villa, 'If we canceled this league tomorrow, you'd have 600-700 kids on the street looking for something else to do, most of it illegal. You can either support your juvenile program, or help us provide a service teaching these kids sportsmanship, team-building, decision making — everything there is in sports.'"

Coles sought help from anyone who would listen: individuals, businesses and civic organizations. "We spent somewhere around $400,000 to $500,000 in materials and man-hours that we raised in three years," he said. The money was collected in a series of fund-raisers.

Two of the fields are named for major contributors to the project, the Ray Scarpelli family, owners of Raymond Chevrolet, and Ron Santo of the Chicago Cubs.

"Raymond Chevrolet in Antioch and Ray Chevrolet in Fox Lake donated two cars for raffles," Coles said. "We're still looking for two major donors for the last two fields."

"We need about $25,000 to complete the project with everything we promised the village board," Coles said. "We hope to raise about $7,000 or $8,000 from this event. The park itself will be self-sufficient from rental to other groups and from concession sales, but we still need donations to help us finish this up."

LAKE VILLA

Driving without license

Maurice A. Warren, 29, of 8240 Crandon Ave. in Chicago, was arrested on March 8 at 1:43 a.m. after a one-vehicle accident with his 1999 red Kawasaki Ninja motorcycle. Warren lost control of his vehicle and crashed into a fence at 262 W. Grand Ave. Lake

Villa police charged him with failure to reduce speed to avoid an accident, violation of classification and driving with a suspended license. He was released on a personal recognizance bond, and will be tried on April 12 at 3 p.m. in Branch III, in Grayslake.

Richard W. Nickell II, 22, of 36338 N. Wildwood in Lake Villa, was arrested on March 9 at 1:12 a.m. A Lake Villa police officer stopped Nickell at Rte. 83 near Park Ave. because the rear license plate was not lit and obscured by stickers. He was released on an I-bond, and his court date is April 12 at 3 p.m. at Branch III in Grayslake.

LINDENHURST

DUI

Bernard P. Joyce, 40, of 200 S. Beck in Lindenhurst, was arrested by Lindenhurst police at 8:08 p.m. on March 11. He was stopped at Granada and Grand after an accident in which he rear-ended another vehicle. The driver of the other vehicle called police after smelling alcohol on Joyce's breath. Police did not attempt field sobriety tests, because Joyce's head struck his windshield during the accident. Joyce was taken to St. Theresa's Hospital, where he refused to take any tests. He was charged with driving under the influence of alcohol, failure to reduce speed to avoid an accident and failure to wear a seatbelt. His license was immediately suspended for a minimum of three years because this was his second DUI, and he refused to be tested. Joyce posted $100 cash and his driver's license. His court date is set for April 11 at 9 a.m. in Room C402 at the Waukegan courthouse.

Brian L. Hogan, 30, of 36457 N. Rte. 83 in Lake Villa, was stopped on Grand Ave. near the rescue barn on March 13, at 12:28 a.m. When stopped, he initially refused to give the Lindenhurst police officer his driver's license, until threatened with a charge of obstruction. He refused both field sobriety tests and a breathalyzer test. He was charged with driving under the influence of alcohol, improper lane usage and having a loud muffler. He posted his license and $100 cash. His court date is March 28 at 9 a.m. in Waukegan courtroom C402.

John M. Keeton, 22, of 1205 Fulton in Winthrop Harbor, was stopped on Rte 45 north of Grass Lake Rd. when he was observed weaving in his lane. When stopped by Lindenhurst police, Keeton's front seat passenger had an open 12-pack of bottled beer on the floor of the car. The passenger, David Keeton, 22, also had an open 200 ml. bottle of Jaegermeister in his pocket. After a field sobriety test, which showed impairment, and a breathalyzer, which showed a blood alcohol content of .072, John Keeton was charged with improper lane usage and driving under the influence of alcohol. He was released on $100 bond, to stand trial on April 1 at 9 a.m. in Waukegan courtroom C402. David Keeton was charged with open transport of alcohol. He was released on $75 bond, to appear on April 5 at 9 a.m. in Grayslake.

Forrest E. Thrawl, 27, of 15 Aberdeen Rd. in Hawthorn Woods, was arrested on March 11 at 12:33 a.m. He was stopped on Rte. 45 near Sand Lake Rd. after a Lindenhurst police officer observed his vehicle standing at a green light. When the driver resumed travel, he was observed weaving in his lane, at which point he was stopped. The officer detected an odor of alcohol on Thrawl's breath, and an odor of cannabis in the vehicle. Thrawl gave the officer consent to search the vehicle, where he found a bag of a green leafy substance, and a bag containing pipes and more of the leafy substance. Thrawl's field sobriety test showed impairment. A breathalyzer test revealed blood alcohol content of .061. Blood and urine tests were also submitted. Thrawl was charged with driving under the influence of alcohol, unlawful possession of cannabis, disobeying a traffic control device, improper lane usage and no proof of insurance. He was released on $100 bond. His court date is set for April 11 at 9 a.m. in Waukegan Room C402.

Brick D. Ayola, 39, of 5585 Barnwood in Gurnee, was arrested by Lindenhurst police on March 11 at 2:25 a.m. He was stopped on Grand Ave. east of Granada. He failed to stop when first hailed by the police, who observed him traveling at 48 mph in a 35 mph zone. A field sobriety test showed impairment. His breathalyzer test showed a blood alcohol level of .167. Ayola was charged with driving under the influence of alcohol, blood alcohol content greater than .08, speeding, improper lane usage and failure to yield to an emergency vehicle. He was released on a personal recognizance bond, and the responding officer drove him home. His court appearance is set for April 11 at 9 a.m. in Waukegan Room C402.

Driving without license

Adam B. Roberts, 19, of 38668 N. Bayonne Rd. in Wadsworth, was arrested by Lindenhurst police on March 8 at 3:50 p.m. on Gelden Rd. He was stopped for driving 57 mph in a 40 mph zone. His registration sticker was expired. A police check determined that Roberts had been cited three times before for driving on a suspended license, and had apparently never possessed a valid driver's license. He also had an open bottle of Bacardi 151 in his rear seat. He was charged with speeding, driving with a suspended license, open transport of alcohol and no proof of insurance. He posted $200 cash bond. He is due in Grayslake Branch III on April 5 at 10:30 a.m.

Grayslake man sentenced for sex crimes

A 32-year-old Grayslake resident, Dale A. Beranek, was sentenced March 13 after he reportedly admitted to molesting a 15-year-old Hawthorn Woods boy he met on the Internet in 1995.

Beranek was sentenced to 18 months in jail plus three years probation for the crime, which he told police about during questioning after his arrest in October. He was arrested Oct. 20 as a result of continual monitoring of on-line computer activity by the Child Exploitation Unit.

The arrest was made in Waukegan at the site of a pre-arranged meeting place organized via the Internet by Beranek and a Sheriff's Office Detective who represented himself as being age 15.

During his imprisonment, Beranek will be part of a work-release program in which he may seek employment and attend counseling. He has been banned from seeking or taking a job where he could work with children unsupervised.

Five-time DUI offender taken into custody

Breathalyzer reads BAC level .204

By BRENDA BEITSCHER
Staff Reporter

A Waukegan man was arrested and charged with two felony DUI offenses, after it was determined that he was speeding, driving under the influence of alcohol, and driving after revocation of his license for five prior DUIs.

A Lindenhurst police squad car was nearly driven off the road by a speeding truck on March 4 at 2:26 a.m. The officer pursued the truck, which was driven by William S. Cliff, 38, of 736 Flossmoor in Waukegan.

Lindenhurst police charged Cliff with DUI alcohol, improper lane usage, illegal transport of open containers of alcohol, blood alcohol content of over .204, and a charge of "DUI enhanced." The two felony charges of DUI were approved by the Assistant State's Attorney because Cliff's driver's license had already been revoked for five previous DUIs.

Cliff was remanded to custody of the Lake County jail. His car was impounded, pending forfeiture proceedings. His trial is set for March 30 at 10:30 a.m. in Room 120 at the Waukegan Courthouse.

Students join Internet exploration of Anasazi

By MICHAEL H. BABICZ
Staff Reporter

Grass Lake School students are joining in a exploration of the American Southwest, without the kindergarten through eighth-graders ever leaving Antioch.

Classroom Connect, a leader in Internet-based curriculum and professional development for K-12 education, has announced AmericaQuest. AmericaQuest is the first of Classroom Connect's award-winning, on-line learning expeditions to focus on a mystery within the United States.

This spring, through the month of March, the world famous Quest team will journey through the American Southwest. The travels will be in an attempt to discover why the ancient Anasazi civilization abandoned their elaborate cliff dwellings around the year 1300. The Anasazi were the builders of Mesa Verde and Chaco Canyon.

The Grass Lake students will direct the team as it gathers evidence while attempting to solve the mystery while learning about the people and animals of the region being explored.

Approximately 4.5 million students will join this Quest as it travels throughout Arizona, New Mexico, Utah and Colorado, solving ancient and natural history mysteries.

Through the AmericaQuest web site and curriculum guide, students and teachers have access to an array of learning activities which apply to social studies, mathematics, language arts and science. In addition, AmericaQuest will explore contemporary American cultures and provide an in-depth look at the Four Corners region of the United States.

"The ancient Anasazi civilization was arguably the greatest civilization in North America a thousand years ago," said Dan Buettner, vice president of the Adventure Learning Division of Classroom Connect. "As we begin a new millennium, we will empower the kids to gather and synthesize evidence, then draw unique conclusions about the rise and fall of a great society."

"Exploring the archaeological ruins and the rich cultures of the Pueblo peoples, the Anasazi's descendants, AmericaQuest gives kids a mirror to better understand the pressures facing our own society," Buettner added.

Jim/Nita Hession

On Feb. 20, 1950, Jim and Nita (Woolner) Hession of Antioch were married in Chicago.

They celebrated the event on Feb. 25 at Wilmot Stage Stop, Wilmot, Wis. with their children, Susan Bacox (Glen) of Moline; Debbie Hauldren (Jim) of Bristol, Wis.; James Hession (Clover) of Antioch; and Nancy Stanaway (John) of Salem. Jim and Nita have 10 grandchildren and one great grandchild.

Pre-registration required for annual Easter egg hunt

By MICHAEL H. BABICZ
Staff Reporter

Plans are well underway for Antioc's Ninth Annual "Eggcellent Easter Adventure."

The traditional Easter egg hunt will be held in Williams Park at 11 a.m., or as soon as all of the parade participants arrive. The parade begins at 10:30 a.m.

New for this year's hunt is a pre-registration requirement. All youngsters, age 1-10, must be registered at the Antioch Parks & Recreation Office, located in the rear of the village hall at 874 Main St., before the event.

There will be no registration for the egg hunt at Williams Park. To avoid any disappointed children, parents are reminded registration is being accepted through Friday, April 14.

The fee is $2 per child for Antioch residents. Antioch residents are considered to have a zip code of 60002. The fee for non-residents is $4 per child.

Each child is expected to receive no more than 10 eggs. The hunt will take place rain or shine. Bags to hold eggs will be supplied.

Children are invited to visit with the Easter Bunny from 11:30 a.m.-1 p.m. at the Antioch Senior Center.

Sponsors of this year's egg hunt are Antioch Parks & Recreation Department, Antioch Community Development Department and Lakeland Publishing.

For questions regarding the Easter parade or egg hunt, contact the parks & recreation office 395-2160.

Now I lay me down, Part II

Any of you who are regular readers of my little 15 minutes of fame here know that last week I spouted off about the unruly sleeping habits of little children. I believe the transition from hating sleep to longing for a little shut eye takes place around the teenage years. Teenagers believe God made night time to roam the countryside, call their pals, and break curfew.

They not only become belligerent at this age, they become nocturnal. Then, at some point in one's life, let's say around the parent-hood years, there must be a chemical change and we finally become full fledged, over-committed adults who take on too many responsibilities on too little sleep. It is then that we become sleep-craving bodies, and slumber is no longer a chore, but a luxury.

Last week I reflected on the idea that children purposely avoid sleep to drive their parents insane. I gave the example of my niece who was fighting her body's attempt to nod off to sleep in my car. She clearly stated she wasn't falling asleep, her head was just too heavy for her neck to hold up any longer.

View Boss Man would buy that excuse if he happened upon your cubicle in the middle of your afternoon siesta. How many of you have ever turned your back on the rest of the office, propped yourself up so as to look like you are reading a work-related manual or computer screen, only to be viewing nothing but the inside of your closed eyelids.

The jerking motion that brings you back to reality once you are disturbed, is a dead give away as to what was really taking place within your realm—or the crash as you fall off your chair in your relaxed state.

Church is another place that often finds a tired soul grabbing a few extra minutes of shut eye. Once again, if you set yourself up right in the pew, nobody has a clue as to what is really going on. Even with your eyes closed in plain view of the entire congregation, nobody suspects a thing—they just think you are totally in tune with your Maker. Men and women of the clergy, if they wish to hold their position by the pulpit, should probably not attempt this. Even when it is time to turn in for the night, we over-achievers feel the need to get in a last few productive minutes out of the day.

We turn on the nightly news as we climb into bed, and during the first commercial, after the day's headlines, we nod off, only to wake up just as Nightline is coming on and we think, "Oh darn, I missed the weather."

Thank goodness for timers on our TVs and snooze buttons on our alarms. These are the little devices that graciously prolong our nightly sleep until the very, most possible minute.

So to all of you who are now laying in bed, re-reading the same sentence for the fourth time while trying desperately to finish up the newspaper before Mr. Sandman comes for his evening visit, just shut the light off and go to bed.

Ixtapa/Zihuatanejo A Sports Fisherman's Dream

by JIM WARNKEN, PRESIDENT, NORTH STAR TRAVEL, INC.

About 150 miles north of Acapulco, Mexico, is the relatively new resort area of Ixtapa with its miles of pristine white sand beaches and fabulous hotels.

However, back when Ixtapa was nothing more than a forest of Mangrove trees, its sister town of Zihuatanejo was a thriving fishing village.

Fishing village you say? Must mean the fishing is pretty good if these people made their living at it!

How about a 120-pound sailfish? Looking for some real game fish? Six-hundred pound marlin are not uncommon! Yellowfin tuna run as large as 320 pounds. Mahi-mahi (called Dorado in these parts) as large as 50 pounds come out of the waters around Ixtapa.

Zihuatanejo still retains its traditional fisherman's way of life. Local skippers come from generations of family fishermen and are experts at locating any kind of game fish.

Boats range from 24-foot outboard launches to 38-foot sportfishers. A day of fishing ranges from $120 to $250, which includes bait, tackle and soft drinks. Ask your hotel to prepare a box lunch.

Catch and release is becoming popular, as well as a program called, "Tag and Release." A marlin recently tagged in Ixtapa showed up in Australia! If you do land that too-good-to-be-true trophy fish, you can have it mounted and shipped back to the U.S. for about $500.

Another way to appreciate your catch is to eat it!

Your crew will fillet your catch and several restaurants, such as Casa Elvira or La Mesa del Capitan, will prepare your meal for a slight charge.

Arrangements for fishing can be made through your hotel desk or directly with the Recreational & Sportfishing Boat Cooperative. Their office is on the pier at Avenida Ruiz Cortinez 40 in Zihuatanejo (phone 42056).

THE CLIPBOARD

Character builder

According to the dictionary, one definition has character being the complex of mental and ethical traits marking and often individualizing a person or group.

In sports, when a team or individual is down or in a slump, the character is really tested and the response can make all of the difference in the world.

It was definitely a test for The College of Lake County, which showed it was a champion in other ways this winter season.

A nice crowd gathered in the Willow Room of CLC's C Wing to commemorate just that.

The wrestling team, under first-year head coach Curt Onstad, only had five members in its first year back after a brief hiatus. And all five are freshman, which is encouraging.

"We did well for being limited on numbers," said Onstad, a former Marine and Lancer Grappler.

Two gentlemen qualified for the National tournament, including 165-pounder Alex Martinez and heavy-weight Scott Ludwig. Martinez, who finished eighth at the Region IV Tournament, was also voted the Most Outstanding Wrestler. Meanwhile, Ludwig had taken a couple of years off but came back with a vengeance, placing fourth at the Region IV. He was awarded the Most Improved.

Starting heavyweight Cesar Castellanos was voted the Team Captain Award, while Jason Huntley and Joe Joysumpoa also added to what should be a nice nucleus.

Meanwhile, the men's basketball team struggled, but what can you do when you have only six thoroughbreds.

"But the work ethic, persistence, and dependability was second to none," said first-year coach Rob Sandler.

"It wasn't lack of heart or effort, but rather with only six guys playing almost the entire game, they just ran out of steam," said emcee and A.D. Gene Hanson.

Aaron Coleman averaged nearly 20 points per game and was named the Team MVP. The Most Improved Award went to J.D. Adams, while sharp-shooting guard Jim Nilles of Carmel was on fire from behind the arc. Nilles, who poured in over 20 points per clip, hit on 161 treys this season, ranking him second all-time in junior college history.

Only a freshman, Nilles is up for all-state and all-conference honors and was also voted the Male Athlete of The Season. Billy Yundt, Christopher Gotsch, and Michael Stern-Rouse all provided spark and hustle. With some time now to recruit, Sandler and the returning players will make CLC dangerous next season, only this time, on paper.

Joining Nilles and Coleman as Athletes of the Week winners included the likes of Lancer women's basketball team members Kristina Schulze, Aja Brown, and Corrie Svendsen.

Brown was also an All-Tournament selection at DuPage and Joliet while sophomore Stephanie Wilson and Svendsen were selected as team captains, while Brown was voted Female Athlete of The Season.

Sophomore Alyceson Kudla, who carries a 3.65 GPA, was voted Most Improved and Brown, who averaged 14 ppg, took MVP honors.

More on the Lady Lancers next week. However you slice it, CLC again passed the true test of character.

PLAYER OF THE YEAR

Grayslake's Wessel is Ram tough

By JOHN PHELPS
Sports Editor

When she was a freshman, the girls basketball banner in Grayslake High's gymnasium was empty. Not anymore.

After four years, 6'4 senior center Jenny Wessel and the Lady Rams proudly inserted that proverbial first Fox Valley Conference title this season, its first since joining the league four years ago.

"We started looking (at the banner) my freshman year," the soft-spoken Wessel said. "And since then, it's been a goal to have something up there."

Period, end of paragraph.

Wessel and the Rams clinched that title in the regular season finale against Jacobs where she wound up scoring 24 of her game-high 32 points in the first half. That tied a season and career best.

"She really stepped up in that game and took the team on her back," said head coach Mike Muldrow.

For the season, Wessel posted monstrous numbers as the Rams finished 25-5.

The four-year varsity starter pumped in 21 points, grabbed 12 rebounds, was one of the teams leaders in steals, and swatted over 100 shots.

"This difference this year was that she was able to take over more games," said Muldrow.

Beating Lake Zurich also ranked high on the Western Illinois-bound Wessel's list.

"That was great because we had never beaten them in four years," she said proudly. "We were down almost the entire game. To come back and win showed a lot of our character and motivation."

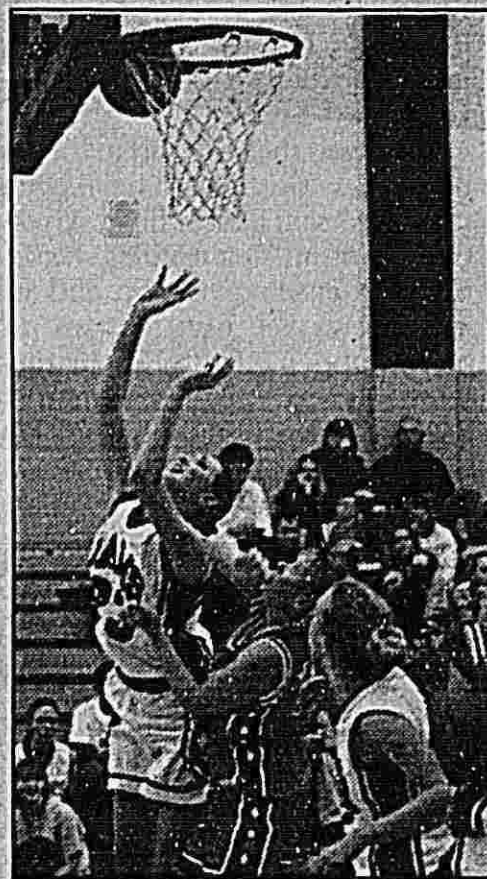

Wessel is also an honor student off the court.

"She's an all-around special athlete and person," said Muldrow. "The Grayslake program has really risen and that's a credit to players like Jenny."

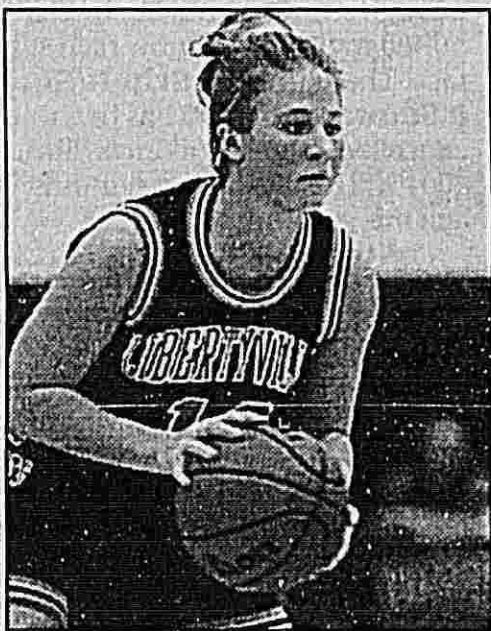

Wessel has three all-conference and three all-area honors to her credit and was named honorable mention all-state last week.

"We'll be a different team and younger next year," said Muldrow. "We'll still have some excellent players but just not that go-to player who can get you 18-20 points almost every game."

Don't worry coach. Wessel and the Rams are and will be well represented. Just look at the banner.

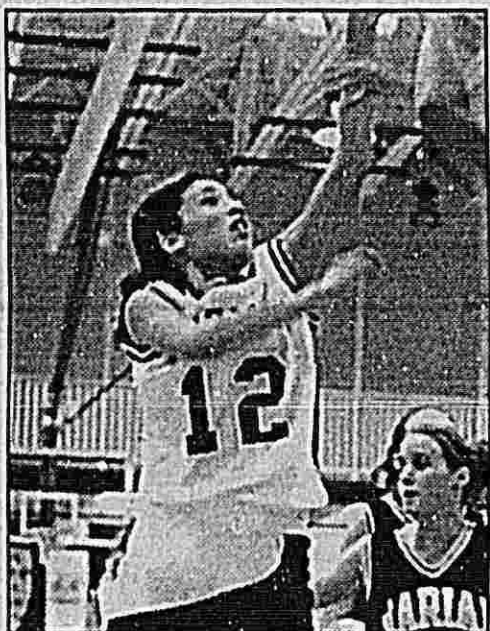

The height, long arms and desire of Grayslake center Jenny Wessel wreaked havoc in the paint this season.

DEFENSIVE PLAYER OF THE YEAR

Libertyville junior point-guard Arin Yarc averaged only five points a game but it was her five steals per contest that spelled misery, not to mention turnovers, for the opposition.

NEWCOMER OF THE YEAR

Sophomore center/forward Christine Martinson of Carmel showed she belongs on the varsity level, averaging 9 points and 6 rebounds a game.

COACH OF THE YEAR

In his first year at the helm, Bill Mix's Wildcats claimed a regional title, second-place finish in the North Suburban and finished 22-8 overall.

Intensity level high as Lancer baseball gets off to flying start

By JOHN PHELPS
Sports Editor

If it's trip to the Metrodome in Minneapolis was a sign of things to come, the 2000 campaign for the College of Lake County men's baseball team should yet again be another positive one on the Grayslake campus.

That's because solid pitching and offensive production netted the Lancers a 3-1 record.

"It's was the best start in the five or six years since we've been going up there," said Lancer head skipper Gene Hanson. "Our pitching was solid, the offense was terrific, and our intensity was very high. Plus, we out-hit our opponents by 12. The only thing was we had some careless mistakes defensively, but those are very correctable."

Lake County recorded a 7-4 victory over Iowa Lakes (Esterville, Iowa) in the opener, a game that featured sophomore pitcher Jake Hanson's stellar showing on the mound. Hanson, who went 6-3 last year, fanned nine batters and allowed only one walk in just four innings of work.

For his efforts in Minnesota, Hanson was named the CLC Athlete of The Week.

Other hurlers who turned in solid performances in Minnesota include the likes of sophomore Jay LaBelle, who was 7-1 last year; sophomore Travis Platt; and, freshman Shaun Eaton, who returns to the mound after a two year hiatus.

"Our pitching will definitely be one of the big strengths," noted Hanson. "We have a lot of guys who throw hard and with accuracy."

Sophomore pitcher Nate Korach, who was 6-6 as a freshman, adds even more depth to a solid Lancer rotation. Unfortunately, Korach sustained an elbow injury while in Minnesota.

"We're not sure what happened," said Hanson. "He has an MRI this week. Hopefully it's nothing too serious."

Lake County then went on to down Iowa Lakes again, 7-2, followed by the Lancers lone defeat, a 6-3 decision to Iowa Central out of Fort Dodge, Iowa.

"That was a good team," noted Hanson. "They were 48-10 last year and currently ranked 4th nationally in the pre-season polls."

CLC got redemption against Iowa Central as it won a 9-8 thriller in the closing game of the trip.

Over the four games, offensive production was at a premium. Freshman Brett McCollum (Antioch H.S.) was 6-for-11 with two doubles and five RBIs while sophomore Justin Keegan from Wisconsin posted a .500 average, going 6-for-12. Keegan, who hit .418 with seven home runs and seven triples last year, belted two doubles and two triples to go along with four stolen bases. And speaking of stolen bases, team speed should not be a problem, especially with Keegan on the basepaths.

That's because the leadoff hitter swiped 51-of-53 bases in 1999, ranking him tops nationally among junior colleges.

"He has tremendous quickness and is just an offensive machine," said Hanson.

But there are other offensive machines on this Lancer squad. Case in point-right fielder/pitcher Platt (Warren H.S.), who was 6-for-13 with two doubles and five RBIs. Platt also belted CLC's lone dinger swiped four bases of his own.

Sophomore shortstop Scott Fuller, also a graduate of Warren High, went 5-for-11 and defensively was errorless on defense.

Other promising players include freshman Keith Colosi (Stevenson H.S.), and catchers Reggie Hughes (Antioch) and Brad Brutyn (Lake Zurich). Both are sophomores.

"We're looking forward to these guys, among others, to hit very well for us this year," said Hanson.

Those others include freshman Dan Sroka, a standout player from Waukegan High.

"He has a tremendous amount of talent and really possesses some great skills," said Hanson. "He's also very versatile-he'll probably pitch and play third base and he's also an excellent hitter."

Other notable players Hanson will look towards for positive results includes sophomore Mike Kaywood (Carmel H.S.) and freshman all-around player Adam Miller from Zion (H.S.).

"Miller is a good contact hitter and may be one of our top pitchers," said the coach. "He's only 5'4 but throws just as hard as anyone because of his technique and excellent external rotation. Mechanically, he's very sound."

Meanwhile, Kaywood, who bats second in the lineup behind Keegan, hit around .350 last season.

"He's also an excellent hitter, especially with two strikes on him and he can hit to all fields," said Hanson.

The Lancers then cruised past Carthage last Thursday 14-3. Ahead 2-1 in the sixth inning, Mike Kaywood's squeeze scored two runs. From there, CLC scored eight in the frame. For the game, Zion's Adam Miller and Antioch's Brett McCollum each collected key hits while driving in two runs.

"It was nice to get back in the groove because we had been off for a few days," said Hanson.

"Everybody got at least two at-bats and our pitchers all threw one inning each. Everyone did a nice job."

We were pretty solid all the way around."

CLC will host doubleheaders Thursday against Lakeland College at 1 p.m. and Saturday against Harper at 12 noon before taking off for its annual spring trip in Orlando, Florida March 22 through April 1. While in Orlando, the Lancers will play 10 games in eight days.

"I really like our chances of doing something this season," said Hanson. "The attitude is outstanding. Plus, we can play 2 or 3 guys at some positions, which adds to our versatility."

Last season, CLC finished 39-18 overall and second in the Skyway Conference before being eliminated in the first round of the Region IV state finals. Kishwaukee Junior College not only won the tournament but went on to claim the Junior College World Series title.

Meanwhile, Hanson enters his 27th season as head coach and has also served as the college's athletic director for the last nine years. He earned his 800th coaching victory last spring and in early February was inducted into the Illinois High School Coaches Baseball Hall of Fame.

Once again, Laker eighth-graders off to strong start

Julian Lott named MVP at Kenosha

The Lakeland-based Lakers eighth-grade travel basketball team opened their 2000 basketball season successfully, capturing the 19th annual KOA Kenosha Classic Basketball tournament title. The Lakers won three games en route to the title in the single-elimination event.

The Lakers were led in scoring by guard Julian Lott's 50 points over the three three games. Lott also dished out 23 assists and was named tournament MVP. A product of Zion Central Junior High School, Lott will attend Zion High School next fall.

In the opening game, Lott scored 15 points and forward Ivan Turner added 14 as the Lakers pulled away from a 42-42 tie early in the fourth quarter and went on to a 62-50 win over the Racine Travelers. Center Eric Vierendeel and forward Justin Jonekis each scored nine points and grabbed 11 and eight rebounds, respectively. Guard Reggie Johnson of Waukegan scored eight points to go along with nine assists.

Alex Morrison of Murphy School in Beach Park scored 16, Julian Lott added 13, forward Ivan Turner scored 12 and Vierendeel added 10 in the Lakers 75-63 win over the Wisconsin X-press. The Lakers never trailed and led by as many as 25 points in the second quarter. Turner also grabbed eight rebounds and Justin Janeikis hauled down seven boards.

In the championship game, the Lakers beat the Kenosha "K-town" Travelers, 54-45. Lott led all scorers with 22 points. Turner scored 12 and grabbed nine rebounds while forward Robby Issel scored six points, dished out seven assists and had six rebounds for the Lakers. The Lakers held a 33-19 halftime lead, but managed just five third-quarter points to 18 for Kenosha and held only a one-point lead after three frames. Lott scored six fourth-quarter points as the Lakers went on to the nine point victory. It was the team's first ever tournament championship in their six years of competing in the tournament. The team is coached by Denny Porter with assistance from Reggie Johnson.

Last year, the Laker eighth-grade team won the US North American Youth basketball National Championship and were led by Zion freshman sensation Andre White. The eighth-graders also won the National title in 1998 and from the looks of things, should contend for those titles once again this year.

Lake County Baseball readying for 2000 campaign

Spring is already in the air and that means Lake County Baseball is preparing for the start of the 2000 season.

Last weekend marked the beginning of the baseball season for many local ballplayers. With Lake County Baseball beginning its weekly indoor winter practices on Saturdays and Sunday, the official start of baseball can't be too far off. Members of Lake County Baseball participate in these practice sessions in preparation for the coming season. They learn the skills and fundamentals needed to be ready for the opening pitch of the season. Each practice session emphasizes a different skill, such as hitting, bunting, base running, pitching, catching and fielding, with weekly attention given to hitting.

Practice continues on Saturday or Sunday through March and other days of the week based on the age of the ballplayers. There is still room for 10-12 members to Lake County Baseball for the year 2000 for ballplayers from 9 through 14. Members of Lake County Baseball are also given consideration for its traveling program, the Lake County Chiefs. You don't have to be a Chief to be a member of Lake County Baseball. Lake County Baseball is looking for teams to form a new spring league for the 2000 baseball season. The league will be nationally franchised under NBC (National Baseball Congress) and playing in the league will lead to national competition in the NBC World Series.

The league will begin play as soon as the weather breaks, continue until early June, and be finished in time for teams to play tournament ball during the summer months. Any coach or manager of a 10, 11, 12, 13, 14, 15 or 15-year-old team that would like more information on this new league should contact Lake County Baseball at 945-9606.

Donation of car brings police department closer to dream of having show piece

By ROBERT WARDE
Staff Reporter

Alan Welk had no idea that when he bought a 1966 Ford Galaxy 500 Custom a few years back that one day it would become an ambassador for the Round Lake Park-Hainesville Police Department.

But that's what happened to Welk's car after he donated it to the department, which formed an alliance with the College of Lake County's Technology Campus to restore the car and transform it into an antique police car.

Welk, a long-time resident of Round Lake Park and member of the village's planning and zoning commission, bought the used car because it was built with older technology and would be easy for him to work on.

"We drove it for the first couple of years, but it has a standard transmission and my daughter couldn't drive it. Lately, it's been kind of a second car and not driven much," Welk said.

Welk is friends with Don Otto, community service officer with the Round Lake Park-Hainesville Police.

Otto and Chief of Police Bruce Johnson had an idea and had been looking for a car to turn into an antique police vehicle.

"Don knew I had the car. It's kind of a throw back to an earlier age. It almost fit the bill perfectly," Welk said.

The body is in good shape and the students at the Technology Campus should have "more fun working on it than I will," he said.

In the meantime, Otto has been searching for the proper accessories to complete the car once it is restored by the students.

"We got a Motorola radio from the Mundelein Fire Department. We also got a red beacon for the roof. I'm still looking for a radar unit," Otto said.

"It's been a lot of fun. Much of what I've found has been by chance while visiting different swap meets. It's going to look really nice," he said.

Some of the items that Otto has located include the radio, red headlight flashers, a beacon light and a pearl-handle spot light.

Chief Johnson was also pleased to receive the donated car.

"We're really excited. We'll put an insignia on it that we've ordered that looks like an old-time gold star," Johnson said.

He added that the department wants most of the needed items to be donated. "We don't want it to cost the citizens. We're confident we'll get what we need. There are so many old police car buffs. Someone will help out," he said.

Already, Antioch Tire has agreed to donate new tires.

Johnson said that the car will be used in parades and taken to schools as part of the Drug and Alcohol Awareness Program.

Greg Brink, collision repair instructor, who is leading the effort to restore the Ford as one of the Technology Campus' "project cars," said it came in a couple of weeks ago and the crew got right to work.

"We disassembled it, stripped the dark blue and white paint," Brink said.

"It's got little rust. It's in really good shape for a 1966. We've only had to do minor body work," he added.

The four-door Ford has a V8, three-speed transmission. It will be painted in traditional style—front and rear ends will be black, the roof will be white and the doors will be white.

Bryan Jones, a student in the program from Gurnee, said he's "always been interested in cars. I like to see the progress from start to finish. We're hoping to be finished by mid-to-end of May," he said.

"The program allows us an opportunity to work with the community and get to work together.

It's also a good opportunity for training," Brink said.

There are about 70 students enrolled in the program.

Those interested in donating items for the vintage police car should contact Otto at the police department, at 546-5009.

SCHOOL DIGEST

Cultural diversity

Carmel High School will celebrate its annual International Fair beginning the week of March 20. The theme for this year is 2000—Oh, the places you'll go. The Foreign Language Dept., which teaches French, Latin and Spanish, has planned a number of activities for the students. On March 20, John des Rosiers, a 1995 Carmel graduate and now sous-chef at Gabriel's in Highwood will provide cooking demonstrations. On March 21, French singer, Claudia Hommel will perform a musical medley entitled "Souvenirs of Paris 1950." The cabaret singer's musical selection depicts life before and after World War II.

Wednesday, March 22 will be a day of international food, music, and dance, all prepared and performed by Carmel students. The school will be transformed into a "hall of nations" with the display of artwork, photography, and flags of every nation.

2000 Thanksgiving scholarship winner

Jessica Hearne, an eighth grader attending Lake Shore Catholic Academy in Waukegan, and daughter of Laverne Hearne of North Chicago, has been announced as the recipient of the 2000 Thanksgiving Scholarship awarded to an incoming freshman who will be attending Carmel High School.

This scholarship is awarded to an African-American student based on an essay, principal recommendation, and demonstrated financial need. A Scholarship Recipient Committee reviewed all the materials and made their recommendation to the president of the school, Sister Mary Frances McLaughlin, BVM.

CASA Lake County forms speaker's bureau

A speaker's bureau has been formed by the Court Appointed Special Advocates Association (CASA) in Lake County to discuss the rewarding experiences of helping abused children who are in the court system.

Chairperson of the eight member committee is Cindy Brunson, a co-founder five years ago of CASA in Lake County; she previously had worked for three years as a volunteer and underwent training for CASA in Cook County. Brunson considers herself a typical citizen volunteer. She explained:

"This is an opportunity to help children that is different from other organizations. You are hands-on working with the family, talking with them in their home, getting to know the children and being involved with them as a representative of the court."

"The abused children don't have a voice in court; therefore, we are their advocates. This is something we can do rather than complain about the system: this is what works for me."

The talks can be from 10 to 40 minutes and may include a video that "will not leave a dry eye" as people in the audience realize the importance of aiding a helpless abused child."

She hopes from the talks that individuals will volunteer and that companies and service organizations or religious groups will donate money plus, if possible, the personal time of their staff to help. She said CASA makes a full report on how the money was spent and the result of working with children.

Susan Grant, executive director, said approximately 250 children have court appointed advocates but there are 600 children in the court system who need one. She said this indicates the need for volunteers and for financial support. Volunteers attend CASA University and go through 45 hours of training that will include working with judges, issues of abuse and neglect, cultural diversity, child development and interview techniques.

Anybody who would like to have a CASA representative speak to them, to learn more about the role of a volunteer, or discuss financial aid can call the organization at 808-9154.

Technology efforts recognized for Fox Lake elementary students

By STEVE PETERSON
Staff Reporter

In one classroom, the project may be a book report prepared by a team of students using a power point presentation.

In another classroom, students compare notes with older counterparts at Grant High School.

In a third, students may work on a key research paper in eighth-grade.

All the above are examples of technology at work in Fox Lake Elementary School District 114. The district was honored for its innovative use of technology at a Role of Technology Conference. The conference was held last month in St. Charles.

"We have computer labs in every school, and each builds on computer skills. There are two to five computers in each classroom, plus we have reading software and a program at Lotus School which allows students to learn to read on the computer, and take tests," Sandy Schuenemann, district curriculum director, said.

At Stanton School, grade's kindergarten through eight, students use interactive research. "They do research starting in the third grade. They have a huge research paper to do in the eighth grade. That includes science, math, language arts and social studies. They will produce a report each spring and it culminates in a printed copy for teachers," Schuenemann said.

Several grants have helped, according to school officials. The school buildings have local networks for all three buildings - Stanton, Forest and Lotus. An up-to-date telephone system is part of the package, meeting Emergency 911 needs.

Gregg Henning is the technology coordinator at the Fox Lake Elementary Schools.

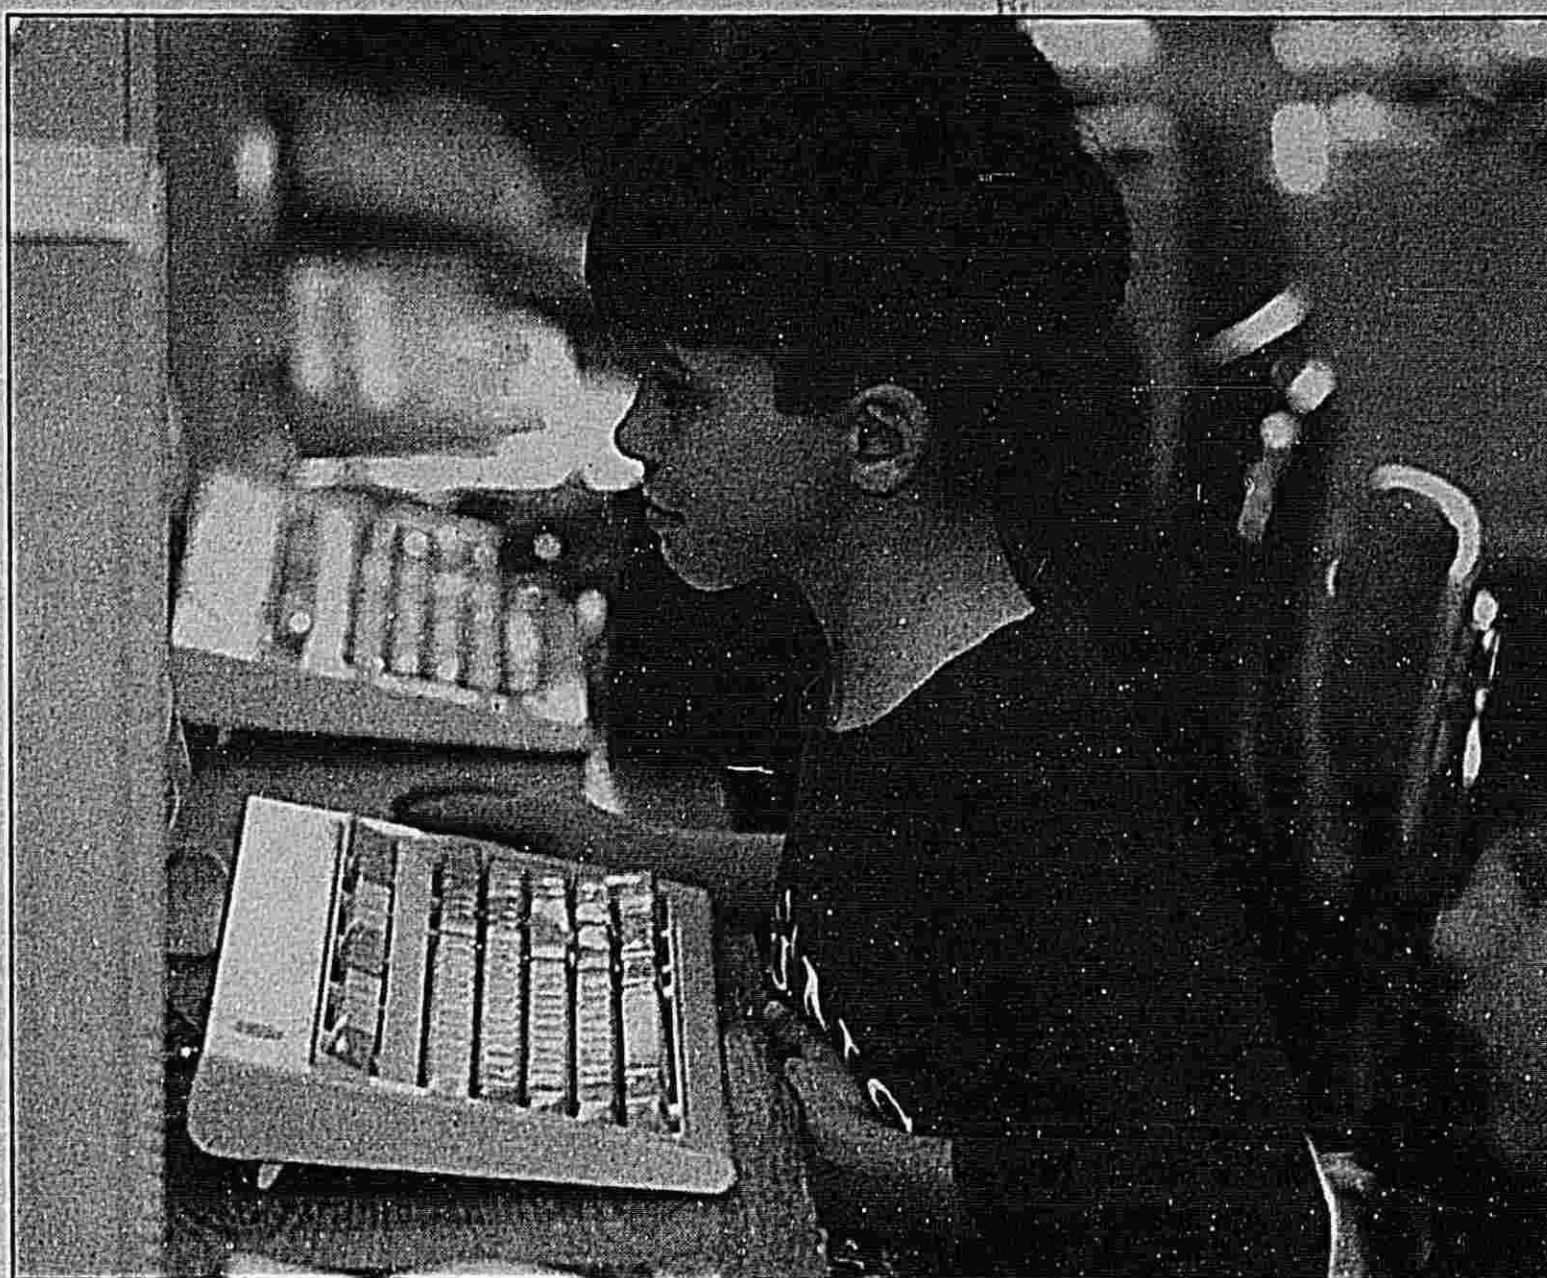

"This is the first time anyone in Lake County received the award. They noted our involvement with the community in computer classes for free. Computers are set up in all the classrooms. I enjoy it. You get to see the new computers and what else are put on," Henning said.

The honor recognized schools for their efforts in teaching to the Illinois Learning Standards.

The Fox Lake district has increased its number of computers through donations. Companies gave away many older computers in 1999 because of Y2K fears. "We were the beneficiary of that," Henning said.

The computers have built-in security systems and firewalls to prevent improper school or public access.

"Students learn to use a multimedia approach and power point for book reports," Schuenemann said. "It directs them to not to focus on their struggles, if they have problems writing."

On the power point presentation, students list the title and type of book, setting, plot highlights, their opinions, and select artwork. Teacher Maureen Swenson helps some out with keyboarding and artwork.

"It's fun. Mrs. Swenson tells you what to do," third-grade student Adam Linczmaier said.

Among the books chosen for this Friday presentation was "Poka Tok," which features a Jaguar and a people's hopes for more rain. "I loved it; I gave it four stars," student Dustin Drury said.

A classic, the "Velveteen Rabbit," was selected, as well as the "Adventures of Robin Hood."

Swenson coordinates the computer projects at Lotus School.

"We are all learning together. The older kids are well-versed in it,"

Swenson said. "The goal is to expose the third-graders to it, then give them more responsibility as fourth-graders."

Grade school students shared their analysis of "The Diary of Anne Francke", a World War II based book, with Grant High students.

Fourth-graders may interface with the Hult Museum in Peoria. The project helps students learn more about the butterfly.

From rebellion to artistic expression, more people finding reasons to get tattoos and body piercings.

The heart of living is living with art." These words, painted on the storefront window of Danise Wolfe's Libertyville business, do not refer to the types of artwork one may find hanging on a wall, or the various objects d'art that provide a focal point in a room. Wolfe invites her clients to get up-close and personal with the art that can be found in her gallery. In fact, Wolfe's art has a tendency to get under one's skin.

"Tattooing has become more socially acceptable and trendy," said Wolfe, who is the owner of Lucky Seven Studio on Peterson Rd. in Libertyville.

Indeed, how can anyone resist the urge to decorate their body after seeing superstar Cher flash her artistic derriere, while sports celebrity Dennis Rodman wormed his way into the hearts of fans with his multi-colored hair, splashy tattoos and labret adorned lip?

"Every other magazine ad shows a tattoo on the model," claimed Wolfe, who has been embellishing skin for more than 15 years. "It's what sells, but I don't think it's a great idea because tattoos are permanent."

The permanency of society's newest craze does not seem to deter those who have their hearts set on the ancient tradition of body marking. People from all walks of life can be found in Lucky Seven, including lawyers, doctors, nurses and accountants. Wolfe herself is a typical suburban mother of two whose love for the art is evidenced by the designs that peak out from the cuffs and neckline of her clothes. Both of her arms are fully sleeved with tattoos that obviously did not come out of the Cracker Jack box. The outline of a new and expansive design on her upper chest is waiting to be filled in with vibrant color.

"The stigma of tattoos is changing," pointed out husband Bill Wolfe, who is still searching for the right design for his naked skin. "They are not automatically associated with merchant marines anymore."

Tattooing, believed to have been practiced by the Egyptians as early as 2000 B.C., was introduced to Europe by sailors during the 16th and 17th centuries. A social symbol indicative of sailors, bikers and prison inmates for most of the 20th century, this form of what some critics call self-mutilation, is rapidly gaining popularity among a society beleaguered by infectious diseases, including AIDs and hepatitis. For this very reason, Wolfe believes the notion of the stereotypical tattoo parlor is changing for the better. Legalization governing tattooing in Illinois has helped many tattoo artists provide professional operating facilities for their clients, and Wolfe noted that this is one of the main reasons for the upward trend.

Lucky Seven is a bright, colorful establishment, complete with children's toys in the waiting room (Wolfe doesn't let children, including her own, beyond that point). The area where the work is done is white and sterile, much like a doctor's office. The tools are autoclave sterilized, and new hospital-sterile, disposable needles are used for every client.

The legal age for tattooing in Illinois is 21. Parental consent can get a person inked at 18 years of age.

Mundelein resident Jill Hughes said she would not give consent to her two teen-aged sons when they reach 18, even though she and her husband John sport tattoos themselves.

Flying's easy ... it's the crashing he doesn't like

Dear Airline Owners:
Is it just me, or are you having more trouble with your planes than normal? Lately, it seems as though you people crash more than my computer.

In the most recent incident I heard about, a jet skidded off the runway in California. Several weeks ago, two small planes collided and crashed into a hospital and street in Zion, killing both pilots and a passenger.

Before that, an Alaska Airlines plane made a fatal nosedive into the ocean, and another Alaska Airlines plane had problems shortly afterward.

How, may I ask, do you expect me to get my husband on one of your planes? This is a man, mind you, who not only keeps track of every plane that has ever crashed, he watches every single documentary ever made about the subject,

LIFE'S A BEAR

whether on the Learning Channel, the Discovery Channel, or whatever. I'm thankful there isn't a Plane Crash Channel, because if there were, he'd be watching it, only taking his eyes away from the TV long enough to turn to me and say, "See? And YOU want me to fly! Are you NUTS?"

That's why it has taken me a full twelve years of marriage to finally get him to commit (noticed I didn't say "happily commit") to taking a vacation this summer, one that requires a plane flight to get there. And just when I get him to say "yes" ... well, at least not to say "no," it seems that the news is suddenly chock full of plane crashes and malfunctions.

What gives here? Are you trying to sabotage me, or what?

Every time I bring up our vacation now, he gives me a sick smile and attempts to look excited. Road-kill looks more excited than he does. I try not to take his reluctance personally, but if you people don't do a better job of keeping those planes in the air, I am going to have to add fishing to our vacation agenda in order to up the ante.

Please don't make me do that. Just once, I'd like to go somewhere with the man I love and not pack any rubber worms.

And don't tell me to recite the safety statistics to him. I've done that, ad nauseum. Of course, you're not making that easy for me, either. It never fails that just when I'm in the midst of yakking on about how much safer it is to fly than drive, the TV will blare out a special bulletin:

"PLANE CRASHES ON TAKE-OFF...50 PASSENGERS PRESUMED DEAD! RESEARCHERS DISCOVER THAT BUTTER IS GOOD ON TOAST! BRITTANY SPEARS ADMITS SHE HAS A PROBLEM WITH NAVEL LINT! DETAILS AT TEN!"

And then there's the bad luck thing. As I've mentioned in the past, Mr. Bear says he doesn't want to fly because he has bad luck. Tell me, are there any legitimate statistics on "bad luck crashes?" Can a person who perceives himself to be an "un-lucky charm" cause one of your planes to crash? Because if that's true, maybe we should take separate flights.

And come to think of it, if he really believes he has such bad luck, then what does that say about yours truly? That, thanks to his bad luck, he married someone like me?

Hmmm. Mr. Bear and I will have to discuss that later.

In the meantime, I would appreciate it if you folks would do your best to keep those planes in the air. Also, I was wondering if you have any sort of helpful devices for nervous passengers? Maybe something like the blinders that racehorses wear. That would be every helpful when I'm trying to lead him onto the plane.

That and a large bottle of Canadian Club whiskey.

Sincerely,

Donna Abear

ART

"What they like at 18, they may not like later," Hughes explained. "I didn't feel right about getting a tattoo until I was in my late 30s."

When she did get her tattoo, Hughes said it was a "family event." She took her sons with her to help choose the design (a rose), and they were also allowed to observe the actual tattooing. Hughes intends to get another tattoo soon, to match the armband her husband already has.

"The arm bands will bond us together more than a wedding ring," said Hughes. "It's permanent."

When asked why she wanted a tattoo, Hughes replied, "It makes you feel different than everyone else."

Derek Plotz, 20, of Grayslake said his tattooed grandfather—who served in World War II—inspired his attraction to the art.

"Tattoos have always appealed to me," claimed Plotz, admitting that his tattoos are a status symbol of the punk rock sub-culture that he belongs to—"an expression of rebellion."

Gurnee resident, Melissa Gonzalez also looks to rebellion as one of the reasons she got tattooed.

"I figured I'm legal so I'm going to do this because I can," said the 25-year-old mortgage closer.

This coming of age attitude is not new to society. As a matter of fact, many primitive tribes used the art of tattooing to denote puberty, maturity or prestigious rank.

Higher class woman of the Maoris of New Zealand, a Polynesian tribe well known for its elaborate "skin carving" of the face, had their lips tattooed and their ears pierced at puberty. Facial and body tattoos on Maori warriors were an important symbol of status, with more lavish designs relegated to the war leaders.

These tribal adornments were not achieved through the common practice of puncturing the skin with needles. The profession of "moko" was literally carving the skin with an ax-like tool and a mallet.

The American Indians also used tattooing for tribal significance, marking their young with a personal or tribal totem at the onset of puberty.

Similarly, Wolfe said many of her clients choose Japanese Kanji symbols to depict something about their own personality. Some even have bar codes of their favorite product, such as a type of cereal or cigarette, inked into their skin.

"We work with our clients to help them find something unique," said Wolfe of her mainly custom artwork. "This is permanent, and we want our clients to be sure they have something they want to carry with them for the rest of their lives."

"When you're young, you just don't realize the permanence," noted

Heather Chiaro, 20, of Buffalo Grove has piercings in her nose, tongue and ears.

Plotz, who said that laser surgery to remove tattoos is quite expensive, and can possibly leave scars.

"The only thing I regret is that once you start you can't stop," commented Plotz, echoing the sentiments of most, including Wolfe and Gonzalez, who keep going back for more after the initial plunge.

Body piercing, a non-permanent form of "self-mutilation" is another phase that today's rebellious youth are embracing.

Plotz, who had his lips, ears and nose septum pierced at the age of 14, said he did it for the shock value. Now, he looks back at his teen antics as "neo-tribal, crusty filth" that is both masochistic and barbaric despite the fact that his girlfriend, Buffalo Grove resident Heather Chiaro, has her nose, tongue and ears pierced.

Gonzalez said she pierced her tongue because it was just "something to do" with a group of friends.

She admitted that there is no benefit to having a barbell protruding from one's tongue, and she receives a lot of "weird" looks from people.

"Spaghetti is the worst thing to eat with a pierced tongue," conceded Gonzalez.

That's not the worst of it. Plotz said his girlfriend had a nerve clipped in her tongue when she went to have a second piercing done. Her tongue was numb for over a month.

Although many tattoo establishments offer body piercing, the Lucky Seven does not. Wolfe cites health issues as one of the major reasons she doesn't offer the procedure. She pointed out that this form of body embellishment is more of an attraction to the younger crowd because there is no age restriction, and the expense is something they can easily afford (Wolfe charges $100 to $125 per hour for tattoos).

Along with the shock value of nose, mouth and eyebrow piercings, there are those who will tell you that sexual pleasure can be heightened by piercing specific body parts including the nipples.

Hughes, whose pierced navel didn't heal properly paralleled navel rings as the "female version of guys going out to get a sports car."

She allowed her sons to get their ears pierced in their early teens just so they would get the idea of doing something totally outrageous out of their system.

"If you let them do something small, like a pierced ear, I think they will rebel less when they are older," theorized Hughes.

You're the person whom everyone is turning to for help this week, Aries. While you're flattered, you know that you can't do it all. Try to be there for those who really need you; the others can figure things out on their own. A loved one needs a shoulder to cry on. Be there for him or her.

Taurus — April 21/May 21

Don't be nervous about handling a personal problem this week, Taurus. You are more than capable of taking care of this. Just examine the situation, and do what you think is best. Everything will work out in the end. That special someone has a surprise for you this weekend. Enjoy, because you deserve it.

Gemini — May 22/June 21

Don't let a run-in with an acquaintance ruin your good mood this week, Gemini. Ignore what he or she says to you; this person is just trying to get you upset. Don't give him or her the satisfaction. An old friend calls you out of the blue. Spend time catching up with him or her. You're sure to learn some interesting things.

Cancer — June 22/July 22

Don't wear your heart on your sleeve when having an important discussion with that special someone. Letting this person know how you feel will give him or her the upper hand. A loved one asks for your opinion about a family matter. Be honest — even if what you have to say won't be appreciated. Virgo plays an important role.

Leo — July 23/August 23

Don't be jealous of a business associate who is in the spotlight this week. He or she deserves the recognition. Just because this person is getting the accolades doesn't mean that the higher-ups don't appreciate your work. You meet an interesting person on Thursday. Get to know him or her better, because this could be the one.

Virgo — Aug 24/Sept 22

Do your best when it comes to a project that you're working on. Put all of your effort into it, because many people are interested in seeing the final product. A close friend is feeling lonely. Be there for him or her. Your efforts will be appreciated.

Libra — Sept 23/Oct 23

Don't believe everything that you hear this week, Libra. An acquaintance is trying to pull the wool over your eyes. So, stay alert, and try to see what really is going on. That special someone asks for your opinion. Be honest with him or her.

Scorpio — Oct 24/Nov 22

A business associate turns to you for advice about a problem. Try to help this person out, because he or she is lost without you. This is sure to bring the two of you closer. A loved one takes you out for a night on the town late in the week. Enjoy yourself! Libra plays an important role.

Sagittarius — Nov 23/Dec 21

You run into an old friend early in the week, Sagittarius. Spend time catching up with him or her. However, don't tell this person too much, because your meeting isn't coincidental. He or she wants something from you. A close friend reveals his or her true feelings for you. Let this person know how you feel too.

Capricorn — Dec 22/Jan 20

A close friend introduces you to a business associate who really could help your career. Don't put on airs. Just be yourself, and you're sure to make a good impression. A loved one needs a shoulder to cry on. Be there for him or her. Pisces plays a key role late in the week.

Aquarius — Jan 21/Feb 18

You're on cloud nine this week, Aquarius. Everything is going your way, and you can't do anything wrong. Enjoy yourself, because things are going to get more hectic next week. That special someone asks you an important question. Answer him or her honestly.

Pisces — Feb 19/March 20

Go after what you want this week, Pisces, and don't let anyone try to stop you. If you work diligently and put in the effort, you're sure to get exactly what you want. The person whom you've been seeing wants to intensify the relationship. Say yes!

'Mission to Mars' should have stayed there

For the second time in three weeks I've seen a movie starring Gary Sinise in which he did a decent acting job but the script let him, and the entire cast, down.

The first one was Reindeer Games, from acclaimed director John Frankenheimer. Mission to Mars also has an acclaimed director, Brian De Palma. However, De Palma, director of such films as Scarface and Mission: Impossible, had previously never done a sci-fi movie. It would have been better if he never had.

Nonetheless, he undertook the task of directing a special-effects monster with no script in Mission to Mars. It worked for James Cameron and Titanic, but then again, this film doesn't star Leonardo DiCaprio.

The film, set in the not-too-distant future (2020), begins with a barbecue held just before Astronaut Luke Graham (Don Cheadle) and his crew prepare to be the first human beings to set foot on Mars.

In the first of many emotionless scenes, Jim McConnell (Sinise) arrives at the barbecue and is told the mission would have been his if his wife Maggie (Kim Delaney) hadn't died.

movie review

Rob Backus

The movie then cuts to 18 months later with Luke and his crew having already set up shop on the Red Planet. On a routine search of Mars' surface, they find what appears to be ice sticking out above a mountain top.

The crew then radios the news of this to the rest of the Mars team, which is based in a space station.

However, upon checking out the potential ice, the entire crew, with the exception of Luke, is killed by an apparent sand storm.

Luke then sends a distorted message to the space station telling them of the plight of his crew.

Then, predictably, there is a debate among the rest of the Mars team whether or not to send an elaborate rescue mission to bring Luke home.

Of course, the mission is launched or the movie would be over.

So Jim, the overly loving couple Woody (Tim Robbins) and Terri (Connie Nielsen) and Phil (Jerry O'Connell) embark on an elaborate mission to save Luke.

So far the movie isn't half bad, with the special effects having carried it to this point.

However, anything that can go wrong on the rescue mission does go wrong, and the movie is downhill from there.

For such a loving married couple, Terri sure doesn't seem to show much emotion when Woody tragically dies.

Woody Blake (Tim Robbins) and Jim McConnell (Gary Sinise) travel to the Red Planet in Touchstone Pictures' "Mission to Mars."

Also, for having seen his crew die in front of his eyes and for being marooned alone on a distant planet for over a year, Luke seems surprisingly sane. Sure, he flakes out a little when he first sees Jim, but he pulls it together quickly.

The rest of the movie is filled with non-stop special effects as the crew discovers the origin of life on Earth by unlocking a secret code that opens the aforementioned mountain.

If you go to see this movie, please heed my advice and leave before the ending. The ending will just leave you confused and totally unsatisfied.

The talents of Sinise, Cheadle and De Palma were completely wasted on such an uninteresting movie, minus the special effects which were outstanding.

I gave Mission to Mars two-and-a-half out of five popcorn boxes.

CRITIC'S CHOICE

'Tiny Island' blends fantasy, real world

The 'Tiny Island' in Michael Hollinger's witty play of the same name is a small projection booth at a once-majestic family owned movie theatre that's fighting a losing battle to a nearby expanding video store. The space may be limited, but it's jam packed with memories.

It's also a place where two middle-aged sisters, estranged for thirty years, come together to confront their past-and sort out their futures.

The year is 1883 and Hazel, loud mouthed and brash, works as the projectionist and wallows in misery over an adulterous husband, drowning her grief with an occasional beer or belt from a vodka bottle. We met her and Mike, a teenaged usher, with whom she whiles the time playing Trivial Pursuit.

Muriel, the younger, neurotic sister, has made an unexpected visit in order to share burdens of her own foundering marriage. But the flare-up erupts almost immediately between the two women, with Hazel still angry at Muriel for apologizing for stealing and marrying her old beau and, importantly, for divulging cherished secrets of a fantasy flying game the two used to play when they were children.

Emotions cut deep and raw in this fine Next Theatre of Evanston comic drama starring Suzanne Petri and Oksana Fedunyszyn and directed by Todd Schmidt at the Noyes Cultural Arts Center. Johnny Knight, in a dual role of both Mike, the usher and Norm, the young suitor from 1953, adds dimension as his characterizations move back and forth in time. Meanwhile, Ann Noble Massey, helps the lead perspective to the story as the young Muriel and the quirky Brenda.

'Tiny Island' which runs through March 25, finely blends cinematic make-believe with the down-and-dirty of real-life struggles. Ticket information is available at 475-1875.—By Tom Witom

Playground Theater presents 'World's Greatest Magician'

Jeffery the Great" is a true story of a boy, raised by a wizard, who pulls a sword from a stone and...oops, wrong one. It is a true story told through magic, comedy and juggling, of Jeff Fredriksen, a popular entertainer in the Chicago area for the past 15 years. The unique performance traces Jeff's career from receiving his first magic trick through talent contests and mishaps all the way to becoming a full time professional magician. The story is illustrated with routines combining all his skills with music, laughter and audience participation. Children (5 and up) and adults alike will enjoy Jeff's comedic and magical abilities. "Jeffery the Great" runs on Sunday at 3 p.m. from March 26 - May 21 (except for Easter Sunday, April 23) at the Playground Theater, 3341 N.

Jeff Fredriksen "This World's Greatest Magician"

This year, OMNI Youth Services will be honoring the following six individuals at its Gala; Dr. Juan Andrade, Jr., Dr. Sylvia Earle, Ph.D., Eileen Gold Kushner, Captain Bill Pinkey, Dr. Patricia Scherer and Barbara Shaw. A LifeModel is someone who is not always celebrated or famous, but deserves to be. LifeModels are living individuals who successfully deal with life's difficult challenges, and serve as role models for all of us, especially the youth.

OMNI Youth Services has offered comprehensive community-based social services to the youth and families of Chicago's northwest suburbs since 1972. OMNI

Illinois nursing homes provide specialized services for residents with Alzheimer's disease

Alzheimer's care is undergoing a dramatic shift in philosophy, and it is affecting Alzheimer's care programs in nursing homes around the state.

Ten years ago, Alzheimer's professionals would tell caregivers to "correct" memory mistakes of persons with Alzheimer's. This was called "reality orientation." If a person with Alzheimer's insisted that this was 1959, the "reality orientation" philosophy would want caregivers to "correct" the mistake (No, it's not 1959, it's the year 2000," or "No, I'm not your mother, I'm your daughter.") But now many researchers believe that reality orientation is unnecessarily combative, frustrating persons with Alzheimer's rather than helping them. Much more prevalent now in nursing homes is an approach called "validation therapy." If someone insists that it is 1959, caregivers are more likely to ask what was enjoyable about the year 1959, and steer the discussion to the positive and enjoyable memories of a person's life rather than force current reality.

Similarly, ten years ago, many professionals were told that allowing a person with Alzheimer's to wander was dangerous, or enabling a person to cuddle a stuffed teddy bear was undignified and "child-like," or permitting a person to perform repetitive tasks was too demeaning. Much of that attitude has changed to today's caregiving environment in nursing homes. Rather than restraining a person from wandering, nursing home professionals are finding that safe, supervised wandering helps reduce anxiety, is good exercise and helps a person sleep. Circular "wandering paths" have been designed, often in an enclosed garden area, allowing a person to wander without "wandering off."

Professionals have also realized that objects, such as a stuffed teddy bear, rather than be undignified, often prompts pleasant past memories, and helps a person become more communicative. Also, the more involved a person with Alzheimer's, the better, even if it involves folding the same clothes over and over again. The person still has a continuing sense of contribution and accomplishment. Giving a person those feelings of involvement, contribution and accomplishment is far more important than what actually gets accomplished.

"Even though persons with dementia can't do what they used to do doesn't mean they can't enjoy life at the moment," says Dr. David Bennett, director of the Alzheimer's Disease Center at Chicago's Rush-Presbyterian-St. Luke's Medical Center.

Working with what researchers have discovered in the past ten years, Illinois nursing facilities have developed a variety of successful programs to meet the specialized needs of residents with Alzheimer's disease and related dementias. Among the distinguishing factors of these programs are increased training for staff on dementia care issues; therapeutic activities that focus on resident abilities and enjoyment of life as they see and feel fit; education and support programs for family members; and supportive physical environments that reflect these residents' unique sensory and cognitive needs.

Alzheimer's disease is a progressive, degenerative disease that attacks the brain and results in impaired memory, thinking, communication and behavior and, ultimately, in death. The disease typically runs from two to ten years, but its course can take as long as twenty years.

Families face a variety of challenges in caring for a loved one with Alzheimer's disease. During the early stage of the disease, some of the common symptoms include impaired memory, time and place disorientation, and mistakes in judgment. As the disease progresses, persons with Alzheimer's can become increasingly forgetful, agitated, and restless. They lose their ability to communicate and become increasingly dependent on others for the simplest of everyday tasks.

As caring for a loved one with Alzheimer's disease becomes almost a 24-hour job, families reach the sometimes difficult decision of finding a nursing home. Illinois nursing facilities have responded to the needs of families by developing specialized dementia care programs that promote the safety of their loved ones, tap into their remaining abilities, and optimize their feelings of comfort.

According to the latest resident assessment data as of December 1999 submitted to the Health Care Financing Administration, there are currently 15,749 residents in Illinois nursing homes who have a diagnosis of Alzheimer's disease or a related dementia. 196 Illinois nursing facilities have specialized care units dedicated to the care of residents with dementia.

Spring chores do not have to be a pain-in-the-back

Early spring weather also brings us a new set of chores such as gardening and spring-cleaning. Since these activities are not high on the fun activity list for most families, many times careless digging, raking and lifting can lead to injuries, especially to the back. "Poor posture, lack of physical conditioning, bad lifting techniques and improper body mechanics can land you in your chiropractor's office," said Dr. Patrick Morris of Wright Chiropractic in Gurnee.

Following simple guidelines can help prevent injuries. Morris recommends the following to help keep your spring chores safe.

Keep your back straight when working at ground level and when using long-handled tools such as spades and rakes.

Avoid twisting when ever possible.

Bend at your knees and hips to lift objects, lift with your legs, and carry it close to your body.

Separate heavy loads into smaller more manageable loads, especially wet leaves, soil and garden waste.

Get help when lifting something heavy

Work below shoulder level whenever possible. If you must work above shoulder level, limit the task to less than 5 minutes.

Practice good posture and body mechanics

Stretch before and after any strenuous activity (such activities include yard work)

Taking a few minutes to properly prepare for the activity and thinking about the proper techniques before doing them can help make these chores safer.

Back injuries often occur when the spine is bent or twisted to far in any one direction. Back injuries are rarely the result of a single traumatic incident. "Minor stresses and injuries accumulate over time and can lead to significant injuries in the future," said Dr. Williams. "As with many things in life, an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure."

Wright Chiropractic offers a complementary Back School covering proper lifting techniques and body mechanics to businesses, groups and organizations in Lake County. For more information, contact Dr. Morris at Wright Chiropractic in Gurnee at 856-1640.

Dr. doesn't think all distractible behavior is ADD

Hi Dr. Singer,

We have been reading your column for a long time and have seen you write about distractibility and ADD/ADHD a lot. It seems to us that you believe that distractibility can be caused by other things than ADD/ADHD. Do you? S.Z.

Dear S.Z.,

You have read my columns right! I believe the term ADD/ADHD is used as a catchall to describe any and all distractibility. The problem is that distractible behavior can be caused by lots of things.

First, though, you have to separate what ADD/ADHD is from what other kinds of distractibility are. ADD/ADHD is a term used by the medical and psychological communities to describe excessive distractibility. They present it as a medical disorder. I have always believed that distractibility existed

PARENT'S PLACE

in kids, but have always hesitated to label it a permanent medical disorder. I believe that the diagnosis of ADD/ADHD is significantly overused and over-diagnosed in our society.

I heard a quote on the radio the other day estimating that 50 percent of kids are being prescribed Ritalin or some other form of medication for ADD. Now, granted, I cannot confirm or deny that this figure is correct across the board, however, from the amount of parents I hear from who have had medication recommended and are refusing it, I can believe those numbers. My heart about fell out of chest when I heard that figure. That means one out of every two kids.

Additionally, I have heard every form of behavior blamed on ADD/ADHD. Everything from lying, stealing, defiance and nose-picking. There are many behaviors that exist that are strictly behavior problems and have nothing whatsoever to do with distractibility at all. Many behaviors have more to do with a severe lack of limits and discipline. Once limits and discipline are on track it's amazing how fast all of these kinds of behaviors disappear.

Here is what I think is occurring: I believe that real biological distractibility does exist in some kids. I believe it exists in about 1-3 percent of the population. That means out of a classroom of 100, 1-3 kids may have it. The rest of what I have seen is distractibility based on other issues. Lack of processing speed, auditory or visual processing problems, memory problems, problems with handling multiple levels of information at once, behavioral issues: never having had the right limits and using that behavior to get out of school work, the need for attention from adults or kids, an out-of-control classroom with no punishment for out-of-control behavior, an out of control home situation. All of these things can produce symptoms that present as distractibility. I am not a Medical Doctor and do not prescribe medication, but I do successfully treat all of the above mentioned issues to the point that distractibility in my patients is reduced significantly if not completely.

I think that the first sign of distractibility is seen by a teacher and then recommendations are made fast for medical evaluation for ADD/ADHD. Many teachers are not aware of the fact that there is also processing-based distractibility which is learned and practiced through bad habits and can be trained to get better through specific remediation of those habits.

The problem is that the child who is distractible usually never gets the chance to actually learn to deal with the distractibility. Instead, the symptoms are treated through medication and the classroom is changed around him to make it as perfect as possible with no distractions. If the child is dealing with processing-based distractibility, this is the exact wrong thing to do for that child. Of course, any logical adult understands why a teacher needs to stop any acting-out behavior as soon as possible for the sake of all of his/her students, so what I am suggesting here is a suggestion for improving the child's issue privately. Not during class time. The plain truth is, a child who is dealing with processing-based distractibility needs practice to learn to shut out the distractions or ignore the distractions rather than to be made used to a perfect unchanging situation.

If a child learns to work well in a perfect situation, at some point, he will need to work in an imperfect situation and will experience failure in the imperfect situation because he has never had the chance to practice in that imperfect situation. Rarely does life give us a perfect, non-distracting environment. If we learn to ignore distractions or develop "distraction tolerance" as I teach in my office each day, we are developing a child who can work and stay on task regardless of setting or environment.

Kids need to be trained as young as possible how to survive and deal with a difficult situation or a distracting situation and still stay on task. It is a matter of training! This is what I do on an everyday basis. I train kids who are distractible, to work in the face of an imperfect situation. One that has distractions and isn't completely blocking out stimuli. This training significantly improves on-task behavior. It can be done. I've watched it over and over again! This is done through actually gently exposing the child to increasing amounts of distraction so that they can safely incorporate the things they need to do to ignore it and keep working. They actually learn how to attend through habit.

It works really well and really fast and the nice thing is that most kids I have seen do significantly improve from the therapy I do. It's also a nice way to rule out whether real biological distractibility exists in your child or not. If the child does the program and improves, it was probably processing based distractibility and is fixed forever. If your child does not improve completely (most have more improvements than not) you can be more sure of the fact that it might be biological and feel better about pursuing the medical route. This way, it becomes a rule-out thing. It's a real way to test it. I just like the idea that the child learns that his own strength and skill is what is helping him get better. It is a real powerful thing to watch and it works every time.

I feel very lucky because I get to spend every day showing kids that the right kind of work and training is what makes them better. That they themselves make them better and not some outside source. That they have that self-control.

Please, parents, be aware that some kids have a lot of energy and some kids cannot process enough things at once to be able to stay on task and some kids are looking for attention. By tackling the root causes of a child's attention and behavior problems—rather than masking the symptoms—parents can help their children begin to experience positive changes in their lives. Many forms of distractibility can be fixed without medication. Please, for their sake, understand that there may be another way. For the kid's creativity, spontaneity and future, I look forward to hearing from you.

Note: The intention of this column is to promote better observation, differential diagnosis and certainty about origin of distractibility prior to determination of treatment. No one should ever remove a child from medication or start a child on a medication without the close personal supervision of a physician.

Transform your bedroom into a suite retreat

With today's hectic family schedules, the bedroom has become our haven from the stresses of the day. The average person spends one-third of their lives in bed. So decorate with care and choose furnishings that surround you in comfort.

Begin with the bed

It's usually the focal point of the room so a small change can have a big impact. Splurge on a set of lush linens. One of the most popular choices is cotton percale. The higher the thread count, the softer and smoother they will be. Top off luxury sheets with a stylish duvet. Duvets are versatile and often easier to care for. Or pile on the pillows. Elegant accent pillows can transform an ordinary looking bed into a centerpiece.

Mattress matters

Soft-as-silk sheets won't do you any good if you're sleeping on a hard, lumpy mattress. A comfortable mattress is an important, but often overlooked, part of creating a restful environment. Look for a mattress that provides proper support. Can't decide on firmness? One solution is sleeping on an adjustable mattress. The Select Comfort air bed comes with a digital remote control that allows the firmness level of each side of the bed to be adjusted independently. And because air conforms to the body, the Select Comfort mattress minimizes uncomfortable pressure points.

Improve your bedside manner

Give the top of your nightstand a makeover. Cast a critical eye at clutter and rearrange your bedside table using a vase of fresh flowers, scented candles and a decorative lamp. Add your favorite family photos for a personal touch.

Floor decor

Add interest to your carpet or hardwood floors by adding layers. Use a soft wool area rug angled next to the bed for a splash of color and comfort. Other popular choices are sisal and seagrass. These natural fiber rugs come in a variety of styles and sizes. Sisal floor coverings are static free and do not attract dirt and dust particles. Seagrass area rugs are a wonderful choice for a bedroom where the warm hues of the grass will accent furniture beautifully.

Dress up your dresser

Group your favorite collectibles atop a dresser for instant impact. Change the collection with the change of seasons and the look won't become stale. In the winter, choose accessories that add texture and warmth like wicker baskets or pottery. Come summer, sooth your senses with pieces that have smooth, clean lines like glassware or silver.

The key to creating your own relaxing retreat is a few simple steps away. So set the scene for a more serene environment and get a better night's rest.

With today's hectic family schedules, the bedroom has become our haven from the stresses of the day. The average person spends one-third of their lives in bed. So decorate with care and choose furnishings that surround you in comfort.

Take trees and shrubs from tired-looking to terrific

Are your shrubs looking a little scruffy? What about your trees? Are they looking less than tremendous? Chances are, you simply need to feed them. After a long winter, plants often need a little perking up.

You don't need to have a green thumb to produce great-looking trees and shrubs. What you do need, however, is a little help from some dependable gardening products. Giving your trees and plants the exact nutrients they need is easier than ever, especially when you use items like Jobe's® Fertilizer Spikes or the Ross® Root Feeder. The products are easy to use and deliver food underground, right to the feeder roots, where experts say it's needed most.

The fertilizer spikes come in three different formulas: Trees and Shrubs, Evergreen Trees, and Fruit and Nut Trees. Each spike provides just the right amount of fertilizer for your specific plant. Just choose the Jobe's Fertilizer Spike you need and hammer it into the ground around the plant's drip line. There's no fooling around with messy chemicals and you don't have to worry about your yard being unsafe for children, pets or other animals. A nice thing about the spikes is that they deliver a pre-measured dose, so there is no over-feeding. Your plant's feeder roots will be getting just the right amount of nutrients for three months.

Another item that really will give your plants a boost is the Ross Root Feeder. The deep-feeding system is designed to water and fertilize below the surface, where the active roots grow. To use, simply connect a garden hose to the root feeder and insert the feed tube into the soil around the plant's drip line. Water flows through a chamber filled with fertilizer, through the feed tube and into the soil — right to the roots.

Watering and feeding underground is especially important in dry areas or when hot and dry weather is predicted. Using the root feeder can prepare your trees and shrubs against the stress of hot summer months so they remain healthy year-round. The root feeder's fertilizers are available in several types of formulas to ensure the proper nutrients for your trees and other plants. They include: Trees and Shrubs, Evergreen/Acid Loving Plants, Fruit and Nut Trees, Rose and Flowering Shrubs, Green Again/Iron Formula, Citrus Trees, and Systemic Insecticide. Getting your yard to go from tired-looking to terrific is easy — just be sure to use products that feed plants and shrubs at the roots, like Jobe's Fertilizer Spikes or the Ross Root Feeder. The products can be found at just about any garden supply store, hardware store or chain retailer, or by calling Easy Gardener at (800) EASY-INC.

Conservationists list famed and shamed of Lake County

The Lake County Conservation Alliance, made up of member groups and hundreds of individuals dedicated to preserving local resources and quality of life, has announced its annual Hall of Fame/Hall of Shame environmental awards for 2000.

"LCAA identifies and honors those individuals who have made a difference in their communities," said Bob Hollar, chairman.

The following individuals have been selected, based on the opinions of the alliance, to join the ranks of the group's esteemed Hall of Fame:

•Verena Owen

Owen is well known in both Zion and her home town of Winthrop Harbor for her involvement in protecting environmentally sensitive areas. For years, she worked with Zion city officials on the siting of the BFI landfill. The results of her efforts include extensive berming and landscaping that protect surrounding homes, as well as regular testing of nearby wells to detect any potential contamination of groundwater from leachate. Most recently, she headed the ZAPP-Zion Against Peaker Plants-in response to two companies attempting to locate immediately adjacent to Zion and Wadsworth residential neighborhoods.

•Chris Geiselhart

Geiselhart was long known to residents of Libertyville as the leader of CLEAR—an organization working for clean air and water. Now her interest in clean air has led to the formation of Concerned Citizens of Lake County, a group dedicated to informing Libertyville residents about the potential hazards of the In-deck peaker plant proposed for Mallory Industrial Park in Libertyville. As a result of her efforts, Libertyville residents will be able to express an opinion in a non-binding referendum on March 21.

Several races up for grabs in vote

By SANDY HARTOGH
Staff Reporter

Local politicians have had their running shoes tightly tied for the past several months, canvassing the county for support of their candidacies in the upcoming primary.

Now, it's time for the electorate to tie their laces and make a mad dash for the polls to determine the fate of those seeking a chance to obtain public office in November.

The March 21 general primary election polls will be open continuously from 6 a.m. to 7 p.m., giving voters ample time to assert their will over governing powers-to-be.

Undoubtedly, the Republican contest for the vacated District 4 seat of Lake County Chairman, James La-

Belle (R-Zion) will be watched closely by constituents living in the Zion-Benton area. On the Democratic ballot, Ron L. Molinar III of Winthrop Harbor stands alone. But, candidates Ronald P. Colangelo, of Winthrop Harbor, Brent C. Paxton of Zion, and Glenn R. Stewart of Zion all share space on the Republican ticket, vying for advancement to the general election this fall.

Water quality duties mulled by Fox Waterway Agency

FWA recommends doubling user fee rates for upcoming season

Fox Waterway Agency (FWA) board members discussed benefits of hiring a water quality specialist.

The position was a recommendation from the FWA's advisory committee when the agency approved doubling its user fee rates for this boating season. Mark Pfister, of the Lake County Health Department, and Bob Kirschner of the advisory committee gave the FWA board input at a committee meeting in Fox Lake. The board decided to advertise the position, that could be paid $35,000 a year, on the Internet.

"We could have one person whose responsibility it is to look out for the agency's best interest in water quality and not have to rely on an outside agency," Kirschner said.

The water quality issues are handled by Lake County Health Department's service. The LCHD is responsible for 180 lakes in Lake County, not including the Chain O' Lakes, but could help if time allows. The FWA staff person could implement the recommendations of various water quality.

Some board members cautioned against a full-time person, opting for a contract basis. Board member Wayne Blake said the agency's funding is not a stable one, dependent on user fees and the weather.

'When we decided to increase fees, we said there were several things we could do. One of them was to hire a water quality specialist'

William Dam
FWA Chairman

Another director asked, 'what is wrong with having paying the LCHD for three to five days to do the work. We go to the LCHD when we need help.' Another opinion was to combine the LCHD and summer help.

"When we decided to increase fees, we said there were several things we could do. One of them was to hire a water quality specialist," William Dam, chairman, said.

FWA Executive Director Ingrid Enriquez said the position would give the agency "more brain power to deal with the regulatory agencies." She noted that technical support is needed in working against preventing damage from inflow sediment from Wisconsin.

The recommended salary for the position, if the board approves, is $35,000 annually for a two-year basis.

In other matters: A petition was received from South of the Border Muskies, Inc. It asks for a no-wake rule on FWA regulated waters from sunset to sunrise. People are afraid to go out on the lakes at night. It was noted regulations required lights to be seen for a distance of two miles.

No action was taken on the petition.

The FWA, created in 1983, will have its 17th boating season this year. The FWA is charged with the mission to improve and maintain the Fox River and Chain O' Lakes public waterway, from Wisconsin border to the Algonquin Dam for recreational uses, to restore environmental quality, control flooding, promote tourism and preserve the quality of life along the waterway.

CLC NOTES

Alcohol problem screenings

The College of Lake County health center, in conjunction with National Alcohol Screening Day, will conduct free, anonymous screenings on April 6 for alcohol problems. Screenings will take place from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. in Room D129 and 5 to 7 p.m. in Room A259 at CLC's Grayslake Campus.

Screenings will be done on a walk-in basis; appointments are not needed. Participants will hear an educational presentation on alcohol problems, complete a written self-test and have a one-on-one, confidential consultation with a health professional. Referrals to local treatment and support resources will be available for those who need further evaluation.

National Alcohol Screening Day is observed as part of Alcohol Awareness Month in April. Nearly 14 million people, or one in every 13 adults in the United States, have an alcoholic disorder, according to the National Institute on Alcohol Abuse and Alcoholism. The screening program is designed to raise awareness of the dangers of alcohol consumption and offer help for those struggling with the problem.

For information, call the health center at 543-2064.

Mexico study trip discussion

An information meeting will be held on March 22 to discuss the College of Lake County's "Study in Mexico" trip June 15 to July 15. The session will take place at 7 p.m. in Room C002 at CLC's Grayslake Campus.

Students interested in the trip can earn three credits in humanities or business, and four credits in Spanish, for a total of seven credits from CLC. Students will stay with local families in Guadalajara, Mexico, and study at the Universidad Autonoma de Guadalajara, the oldest private institution in Mexico. The trip will provide an opportunity for students to learn a new language, study in a foreign location and experience a new culture first hand through classroom instruction and field trips. Weekend excursions to Mexico City, Guanajuato, Puerto Vallarta and Tonalá are also included in the trip, which will be led by Spanish instructor Theresa Ruiz Velasco and business management instructor Litsa Press.

The approximate cost is $2,250, which does not include tuition and fees. A limited number of scholarships are available. For complete information, call Velasco at 543-2579 or Press at 543-2921.

Free osteoporosis screenings

Free screenings to measure the risk of developing osteoporosis will be held from noon to 4 p.m., March 22 at the College of Lake County's Grayslake Campus.

Anne Beeson, a registered nurse and nurse coordinator at Highland Park Hospital, will conduct the screenings, recommended especially for women over age 50 or women going through menopause. Individuals with family history of osteoporosis or bone problems are at highest risk, noted Anne Devney, director of health services at CLC. She also added that anyone, regardless of age, who may be at risk should be screened. Test results will be available immediately after the screening.

Screenings will be done on a walk-in basis; appointments are not needed. For information, call the CLC health center at 543-2064.

Classical Jazz Ensemble

Classical Jazz Ensemble performs The Turtle Island String Quartet, a San Francisco-based classical jazz ensemble, will perform in concert at the College of Lake County on April 2. The program will begin at 4 p.m. in the Mainstage Theatre of the Grayslake Campus.

The four-member group consists of two violinists, a violist and a cellist who are classically trained musicians known for their "zest, imagination and brilliant technique," according to the San Francisco Examiner. All are versed in the art of improvisation and create their own compositions and arrangements incorporating bluegrass, classical, jazz, rock-and-roll, Eastern music and African rhythms. Their collective backgrounds encompass folk, symphonic and light opera music.

Tickets are $15 for CLC students, alumni and seniors 65 and over; $18 for the general public; and $10 for children under 12. For tickets, call 543-2300. Visa, MasterCard, Discover and American Express are accepted.

Recognition week slated for farmers' livelihood struggles

By SANDY HARTOGH
Staff Reporter

Nationwide, the farm economy has been suffering since the Asian economy took a turn for the worse nearly two years ago. In an effort to promote public awareness of the struggles of Lake County farmers to remain in business, March 19 through 25 has been designated Lake County Agriculture (Ag) Week by the Lake County Farm Bureau.

"When their land is worth more than the yearly crops they bring in, it is hard for farmers to hang on," stressed Greg Koeppen, spokesman for the farm bureau.

According to statistics provided by the farm bureau, retail pork prices have held, but the prices paid to farmers has largely declined. In 1996, Lake County farmers were paid more than $56 per hundred-weight of each hog. Today, the going rate has farmers hog-tied at $30.

Soybean, wheat, corn and cotton prices have also reached all-time lows, bringing the Illinois and Lake County farm bureaus to the forefront in cultivating help for farmers.

The Illinois bureau proposed and supported a $9 billion emergency farm income assistance program, while looking for assertive help in the trade field. The Lake County bureau is encouraging increased use of ethanol, a fuel made from corn, to help boost farm economy.

According to Koeppen, over 25 Lake County communities have passed resolutions recognizing "Ag Week." He said the farm bureau will place more focus on elementary school students this year in an effort to increase their knowledge about the life-sustaining field of agriculture.

"The students are the up and coming future farmers and ag operators," stated Koeppen. "We intend to hit a school everyday with presentations about agriculture."

Koeppen went on to say that it is "amazing" how far removed Lake County youth are from farms, considering that "agriculture made the county what it is today."

"The connection to farms isn't there as opposed to 10 or 20 years ago," commented Koeppen, who is the fourth generation of a farming family. "However, there does seem to be a movement, on some part, to recreate or hold on to what we had."

Although Koeppen believes there will always be agriculture in Lake County, he pointed out that if county farms completely disappear, the county would suffer economically and lose its "overall feeling of openness."

A DIGEST OF STORIES MAKING HEADLINES THROUGHOUT OUR REGION

Experts say Indeck skewed peaker totals

Libertyville—Members of Concerned Citizens of Lake County, a group formed to oppose construction of a peaker power plant in Libertyville, have hired their own experts to counter testimony provided by Indeck Energy Services Inc.

The trio made presentations during a news conference held at the Civic Center in Downtown Libertyville March 13.

In turn, the three made their cases, saying that Indeck has presented inaccurate data regarding the noise, pollution and impact to the power grid that its proposed 300-megawatt plant would create.

The plant, planned for a 17-acre plot in the Mallory Industrial Campus that borders Grayslake, would actually be as noisy as jet engines, contribute as much pollution as 10,458 residential gas furnaces and would offer no additional electricity to Libertyville, the experts said.

Voters in Libertyville will cast ballots on March 21 in a non-binding referendum as to whether the plant should be allowed in the village.

A public hearing is scheduled for March 22.

Indeck will host an open house at the Libertyville Civic Center Saturday, March 18. The purpose of the open house, which will be held 10 a.m. - 2 p.m., is for residents who have been unable to attend the Libertyville Plan Commission hearings to learn more about the proposed plant from Indeck.

GCHS approves all phases of remodeling

Grayslake—Despite being $940,000 over budget, the Grayslake Community High School Board of Education approved all phases of the planned summer remodeling.

After discussing all options, board president Glen Eriksson said there was no need to vote—the board simply needed to acknowledge the needed budget adjustment.

Russ Hager, board vice president, started the discussion, saying he found the building and grounds committee meeting earlier that week "frustrating." At the board's previous meeting, Hager had asked the administrators, Superintendent/Principal Dr. Elizabeth McDonald and Associate Superintendent/Business Affairs David Bonner, to prioritize the six projects—including technology, cafeteria, library and specialty classrooms, expansions and renovations.

According to McDonald, if something were to be left out of the remodeling strictly because of the numbers, it would be the technology renovations. She pointed out that all areas are "equally important to the curriculum" but that the cost of the technology remodeling is more.

In talking with Jerry Allen, technology teacher at the high school, McDonald said he recommended "all or nothing" when it came to the technology renovations, because doing the exterior without the interior would be like building a car without putting in an engine.

"If we have to hold, then we hold on technology, only because of the total number of students affected," Bonner agreed.

Community enraged by display removal

Antioch—A debate over how cemetery grave displays were removed from grave sites has triggered hard feelings among several family members who have loved ones in their final resting place at Hillside Cemetery on Rte. 173 and Hillside Rd. in Antioch.

According to at least five family members who contact The Antioch News, religious statues, small cars on child's graves and other artifacts, some of considerable value, were unceremoniously removed from the plots over the weekend of March 4-5.

Cemetery association representatives claimed signs detailing what would be allowed were posted last summer. Linda Walker from Lake Villa and her sister, LaVonne Pullen from Antioch, said they did not notice the signs until March 5 after having been there the day prior.

Joe Gutowski, who has been a member of the cemetery staff for the past 15 years, said the signs were posted, one at each entrance and one at the east end of the cemetery grounds, last summer. "You can't miss them," Gutowski said, noting the signs were revamped with the regulations governing some of the displays and stating they would be removed March 1.

Some items have been retrieved from the dumpster and put next to it. It is recommended that anyone who may have items to check as soon as possible.

Tournament run ends for Warren boys

Gurnee—Warren Township High School's boys basketball team walked out to the school's bus parked along Ashland Ave. near Welsh-Ryan Arena Tuesday night following its Evanston Supersectional game with New Trier.

No one in the contingent should have had their heads looking downward as there was plenty to be proud of despite having just fallen to the Trevians 51-43.

Warren (22-7) had heavily favored New Trier guessing for three quarters. But it took muscle and rebounding in the fourth quarter, along with a barrage of free-throws, as the Trevians outscored the Devils 17-4, earning in a spot in the Elite Eight this weekend in Peoria. Anything short of that and Warren may have been packing its bags for the second straight year.

"It was an outstanding defensive game. They're a good team and any weaknesses you have will show up. But we did not come here just to give them a good game as a warmup for Peoria. We expected to win. We came darn close. The whole team played hard - it was a fantastic effort," Warren coach Chuck Ramsey said.

Fremont answers anti-referendum piece

Mundelein—With the possibility of a tax hike in the Fremont School District 79 looming overhead, Stop 79 has been circulating false material, according to district Business Manager Daniel Schuler.

The Stop 79 organization is a group of citizens who feel the district needs to find another way to deal with the increasing development and population within their boundaries.

"Having the best equipment and facilities does not educate... doing your best does," reads one of the group's pamphlets.

But according to Schuler, the "facts" that are presented in Stop 79's literature are not facts but broad generalizations and inaccurate estimates.

In response to Schuler's claims, Stop 79 head Bob Bohl admitted that some of his literature has not been entirely accurate. However, he added that the district has not weighed all of their options.

"I think that most of what we have put out has been pretty factual," said Bohl. "I'm sure we have been off on a couple of numbers, but the bottom line is that this is a tax and spend administration and board, and they are not looking for another solution."

Graffiti becoming problem, resident says

Round Lake Beach—Looking around the Round Lake Beach area, it is apparent that gang members have been out in force—putting their mark on buildings and homes.

Resident James Tiffany came to the March 13 village board meeting to voice his anger and frustration over the repeated tagging. He was especially upset over the amount of time residents were taking to remove the graffiti.

Tiffany noted a home at 431 Woodland, behind the school, had been hit two weeks ago and had not been painted over. He said he had called public works, community development and the police department over the incidents.

"Public works is trying to go in and paint over the graffiti then bill the homeowner, said Tiffany. This is important, especially if the house is vacant. If the graffiti is not removed, it brings down our property values. It makes it hard to sell a home. No one is going to buy a house if the neighbor has graffiti all over their home."

"We do have an ordinance in place and the property owner must take care of removing the graffiti," said Mayor Ralph Davis. "We were doing pretty good at enforcing it for awhile, until this recent rash. We need to get back into the routine. In the past, we have set traps which were successful."

Mayor Davis said he wished the village had better answers and that he had discussed the problem with staff members. One idea was to get donations of paint. If residents couldn't afford to buy paint, they could get it for free.

Tiffany offered to put a video surveillance on his property. He noted the high school area seemed to be a high target neighborhood for graffiti.

Field of dreams needs real world aid

Lake Villa—If soybeans were dreams, three years ago Rich Coles, chairman of the Lakes Region Youth Baseball Association, met a field full of them. He had just endured a fruitless struggle through four years of forest preserve red tape, when Lake Villa Mayor Frank Loffredo approached him with an offer Coles couldn't refuse.

"He asked me if the village could get land for a baseball field by trading off something the forest preserve wanted, would I still be motivated to do this," Coles recounted. "I was immediately enthused with their offer of 12.5 acres of soybean fields just off Grass Lake Rd."

Those soybeans have, against all odds, yielded a Little League complex of four full-sized baseball fields, a concession building and a parking lot. "I told the village board that I'd have it done in three years," Coles said. "Everybody told me that without a tax body or a park district this couldn't be done." To the ex-Marine, those were fighting words. "In fact, a lot of the people who said that are among our best contributors," he laughed.

Coles sought help from anyone who would listen: individuals, businesses and civic organizations. "We spent somewhere around $400,000 to $500,000 in materials and man-hours that we raised in three years," he said. The money was collected in a series of fund-raisers.

On Friday, March 24, from 7-11:30 p.m. the association will hold its final of four fund-raisers at the Lehman Mansion in Lake Villa.

The evening will feature a special guest appearance by former Chicago Cubs manager Jim Lefebvre. There will be music, refreshments, raffles and a silent auction of sports memorabilia, including a bat signed by Sammy Sosa and a football signed by Walter Payton.

GOP incumbents have vote edge

In the primary election Tuesday, March 21, eight Lake County Board seats will be up for nomination for the fall general election, all two-year terms. There will be seven Republican contests. Incumbent County Board Rep. Carol Spielman (D-Highland Park) is running unopposed for re-election and there is no Republican contest.

Following are our views on contested Republican races:

Dist. 3 (Lake Villa Township)—Incumbent Suzi Schmidt, running for a fourth term, is an easy choice over Richard "Rick" Russell, who pledges to improve on the already good job being done by Schmidt.

Schmidt was an early leader of the open space movement on the board that now has ascended to the majority. Schmidt appreciates the relationship between rampant residential growth and escalating taxes required to provide new schools. She has delivered on promises to acquire open space for her district. Colleagues have recognized her leadership by electing her vice chair of the County Board.

Dist. 4 (Zion)—There is a three-way race to succeed retiring County Board Chair Jim LaBelle, a highly respected leader who responded to wishes of the electors to tone down the go go growth policies of two previous administrations. Brent C. Paxton, a member of the well known political family, appears to have an edge, although both Ronald P. Colangelo and Glenn R. Stewart are qualified.

Dist. 5 (Grant, Wauconda townships)—Incumbent Bonnie Thomson Carter has won the right to be re-elected. She attends to problems that not only affect her district, but the entire county. Carter has been working to solve inequities in school impact fees. She understands the intricacies of flood control and has taken strong positions against unprincipled developers who clog highways and overload classrooms. Her opponent is Fox Lake Mayor James Pappas, who, while uplifting his village, is running for the wrong reason: a personal vendetta against Carter. The revelation that the Pappas campaign is being funded by contributors allied with the development industry is troubling.

Dist. 6 (Round Lake area, Avon Township)—Incumbent Larry Leafblad has worked tirelessly to curb builder-developer influence in county government. He now serves as chairman of the County Board building, zoning and planning committee involved with implementing the politically charged Unified Development Ordinance (UDO) designed to inject reason and fairness in the county's rush toward urbanization. Because of his always sensible and reasonable approach to public problems, Leafblad should be retained. His opponents are Molli Larson and Robert Powers, whose experience in public affairs have been mostly in campaign support roles.

Dist. 13 (Libertyville)—Incumbent John Schulien, a dentist with a penchant for politics, might have awakened too late to the public's demand for controlled growth, open space and protection of the environment. His opponent is George R. Bell Jr., a retired businessman whose father still is remembered as a builder of the Lake County Forest Preserve Dist. and a voice for economy as a County Board member three decades ago.

Dist. 17 (Barrington)—Incumbent Stevenson Mountsier, comfortable as a support player on the County Board, has been ensnared in local controversy by challenger John B. Schnure.

Dist. 19 (Ela Township, Lake Zurich)—Michael S. Talbett, loaded with professional and academic credentials, offers a fresh new look for responsible representation. Talbett currently is a Lake Zurich village trustee. Time has overtaken incumbent Robert L. Grever, long a popular vote-getter, who now is burdened by personal problems besides no longer being part of the County Board power bloc. Talbett puts meaning into the call for change and is endorsed.

Tax hike miseries

Taxing bodies are turning to creative arguments to convince beleaguered taxpayers of the need to open up their wallets even wider. Their best efforts will be on display election day Tuesday, March 21, what with 21 Lake County tax districts seeking more money for a variety of needs, mostly schools.

One approach is to show how Uncle Sam will absorb some of the increase. Public bodies get their biggest chunk of income from real estate taxes which are deductible from both federal and state income taxes. Because of the tax deduction, the full impact of a tax increase is not felt by the individual. Another approach is to explain that the life expectancy of a brick and mortar proposition extends far beyond the life of a bond issue.

We're often told the daily cost for increasing your tax bill is less than a cup of coffee, a newspaper or a pay phone call. Well, yes.

The story goes, "We're all in this together." Or maybe it's the old saying, "Misery loves company."

VIEWPOINT

Capt. Pape chilled county's crooks

Capt. Frank Pape, legendary head of the crack robbery detail of the '30s and '40s Chicago police department—frequently referred to as "Chicago's toughest cop" during his hey day—knew Lake County well. He came here often, only his visits were for pleasure, not business.

When it came to crooks, bad guys, cheap con men, would-be gangsters and genuine toughs, Pape's reputation always preceded him. That fact alone is enough to undercut local lore that the Depression Era Chain O'Lakes was a haven for gangsters and hoodlums. Not so.

Yes, a few renegades and known police characters hung out in some of the Fox Lake bars, but they would leave town in a hurry when word got out that Frank Pape had left Chicago and was coming up to visit Uncle George and Bobby.

Pape

Uncle George was George DeBray, a saloon keeper who had an arresting appearance as the result of a paralyzed neck from a prize fighting injury suffered as a youth. DeBray couldn't turn his head. He sat stiff-shouldered in a chair so he could see everyone who entered his Grand Ave. bar. Bobby was Bob Trinski, a former Chicago cop and once a devoted member of Pape's famed robbery detail. Bob retired in Fox Lake where he lived for many years while operating a trucking company and serving a stint as chief of police. Trinski, an avid boater, also reorganized the Chain O'Lakes Water Patrol along the lines it still operates today.

Fearless and uncompromising when it came to law-breakers, the shoot-out exploits of Frank Pape recounted in the press and national magazines at the time were verified by Trinski, who succumbed to cancer several years ago.

"The skinny Polish kid was there," Trinski used to say. Part of robbery detail's equipment was displayed on the wall of Trinski's office, a menacing chrome-plated shotgun that could be carried concealed under an overcoat with a thin leather shoulder strap. Trinski served with Pape during the era when a dress suit and felt fedora was the standard uniform for plainclothesmen. Pape's men never went anywhere unarmed, even out to dinner with family and friends.

Frank Pape taught his men not to take any lip from a hood. Their life depended on how straight they could shoot.

The heralded big city policeman who enjoyed relaxing in Lake County, was laid to rest March 9. Always mild-mannered and soft-spoken when not on duty, Capt. Frank Pape died quietly in his Park Ridge home. He was 91.

ing and considerable politicking by purveyors, the bottom line is that peaker plants make lousy neighbors. An effort to establish one of the controversial electrical generating systems faces a signal test in an advisory referendum Tuesday, March 21.

Voters in Libertyville are being given a say so in attempts to site a peaker plant in an industrial area in an extreme corner of the village that's closer to residents of Grayslake and the environmentally sensitive community of Prairie Crossing than a vast majority of Libertyville households.

After hearing pro and con arguments, the impression emerges that if you enjoy the sound of a 747 revving up for take off, you'll love plans of Indeck Energy Services. Both sides have accused each other of lying. Undeniable is noise generated by turbines running around the clock during summer operating periods and pollutants disgorged into the air at levels that would choke a herd of wild mustangs, much less human beings.

Spurred by deregulation of power generation, Indeck promoters are out to capitalize on a window of opportunity—before regulators catch up to operation problems. Huge amounts of capital are necessary to build a peaker operation, but profits are even larger. We're told there is pay back time of two years for an investment of more than $100,000. The peaker promoters make the river boat casino cabal look like a bunch of Sunday school boys. Shades of the robber barons of America's industrial revolution.

The most odious part of the Indeck argument is that local power outages will be prevented during peak summer use periods. Pure fabrication. Power generated will be pumped into a national grid system. Indeck likes the Libertyville-Grayslake site because it's close to natural gas pipe lines needed for the turbines and adjacent to ComEd's towering transmission lines. Got to maximize profits, you know.

Ryan tryin'

Work has begun to untangle one of Lake County's most annoying intersections, Rtes. 45 and 120, slow-going in the morning and a snarl during afternoon drive time. Turn lanes will be installed and signals will be coordinated. Word has it that the greenlight was flashed for rehab after Gov. George Ryan was caught in the traffic creep for 20 minutes during a visit to the area last year.

Low turnout

John Steinke, retired political science professor at College of Lake County, sees a small turnout for the March 21 primary, possibly in the vicinity of the low 20 percentile. One reason is the continued erosion of interest in public affairs. Another key factor is that the Illinois primary is so late as to have no effect on presidential campaigns.

"Time to get an earlier primary," says John. We agree.

Friends and supporters are invited to celebrate the opening at 1910 First St., Highland Park, Sunday from 3 to 4:30 p.m.

Raw edges

The hard-fought Republican race for Supreme Court nominee is rubbing raw edges on at least one of the candidates. Bob Thomas had been calling attention to what political observers have referred to as "record embellishing" on the part of Bonnie Wheaton. A Chicago columnist is said Wheaton was "reinventing herself."

Millionaires club

There reportedly are seven millionaires in the 10th Congressional District contest for a Republican nomination, but only two are seen as having surpassed a million dollars in campaign expenses, Shawn Donnelly and Andrew Hochberg.

Handing out halos in heaven

It was only a tiny item in our major newspapers but maybe it got big headlines up in heaven. Pope John Paul in a beatification ceremony last week sent 44 martyrs on the road to sainthood. Beatification, which means blessedness, is the last step before getting a halo in the Roman Catholic Church.

The 44 were mostly from Europe, Asia and Latin America. Not a Lake County saint in the bunch. Of course, luxuriating here in Lakeland, where the fish are jumpin' and the livin' is easy, we have the primrose path to heaven, not the thorny way.

Nobody here suffers martyrdom, and if any of us could work miracles the Cubs might finally win a pennant.

Yet, some of my male friends have admitted that their wives deserve to be canonized for putting up with them all these years.

The current pope, eager to give Catholics new role models, has beatified or canonized more than 1,200 candidates since he became our "papa" in 1978.

His choices this time include 11 Polish nuns executed by the Nazis and 30 Brazilians, including women and children, massacred during religious wars in the 17th century.

Why do we pray to saints? In the book, "Growing Up Catholic," their funny guide for the faithful, the fallen and everyone in-between, authors Mary Jane Frances Cavolina Meara, Jeffrey Allen Joseph Stone, Maureen Anne Teresa Kelly and Richard Glen Michael Davis (Catholics can acquire quite a few saints' names along the way) wrote:

"Saints are the religious form of going to a specialist when you have an ailment, because patron saints have great sway with God in their particular quarter. If something is lost, cut the red tape and go straight to St. Anthony."

Having been raised in a good old-fashioned Catholic family, I am no newcomer to the practice of prayer. We prayed before every meal, at Mass every morning, at school before classes (and especially before tests), at Tuesday night novenas and Sunday afternoon benedictions, before sports events and for the conversion of Russia.

For a sore throat we prayed to St. Blaise, for a headache to St. Teresa of Avila, and for really big trouble to St. Jude. In Jude's honor, comedian Danny Thomas established a children's hospital. There are patron saints for actors, aviators, barbers, butchers, dentists, policemen, firemen, postal workers and lighthouse keepers.

The postman's patron is St. Gabriel, a chief angel and one of God's most famous messengers.

Lighthouse keepers used to rely on St. Venerius, who today must be as lonely as the Maytag repairman.

One of the all-time favorites was St. Christopher, the patron saint of travelers. Motorists would pray to him for a safe trip and attach St. Christopher medals to their dashboards.

Legend had it that Christopher used to carry travelers across a raging river, and one night his passenger was a small child who turned out to be Jesus. Alas, Christopher was demoted when Rome determined he was more legend than historical fact.

But rest assured St. Patrick is the real deal and still working miracles, like on his feast day turning the Chicago River green.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Shawn Donnelly is the best person for the job

A selected Republican women who have served a combined total of 38 years in the Illinois General Assembly, we know what it takes to be a successful and effective legislator. After looking over all of the candidates running for the 10th Congressional District seat, we are in agreement that the best choice is Republican Shawn Margaret Donnelly. She is a very bright, capable woman who has a proven track record in moving legislation on Capitol Hill. She has worked with and is supported by many Congressmen who will be helpful to her on issues important to this district such as keeping the North Chicago VA hospital open.

We not only wholeheartedly endorse Shawn but also serve proudly as her Lake County and Cook County chairmen. It's no surprise that some of the other candidates have "gone negative" on Shawn as she is the front-runner in this race. However, as "a rose among the thorns" Shawn has the grace, poise and integrity to stay positive throughout this race and on into the General Election in the fall.

Shawn supports local solutions for local problems. Not only is her conservative fiscal philosophy and moderate approach to social issues closely attuned to the views of this district, she also has the energy, character and resources to win the General Election in November. We will proudly welcome her as our next member of Congress.

We hope you will join us in voting for Shawn Margaret Donnelly on March 21.

Forest preserve buys more land

By SANDY HARTOGH
Staff Reporter

Lake County residents will have another 56 acres of open space to enjoy as a result of their 1999 approval for a Lake County Forest Preserve $55 million referendum to acquire open space for land preservation.

The Lake County Forest Preserve Board of Commissioners approved the $3 million purchase at its March 14 meeting.

The site, located on Rte. 21 just south of Interstate 94 on the western shore of the Des Plaines River, is known as Lake Carina. The property features a 23-acre lake, small oak savanna, wetland and dry mesic prairie.

According to Tom Hahn, Director of Land Preservation and Special Projects, the lake is already known by surrounding neighbors as the local favorite for fishing.

"We've had this property on our radar screens for almost 20 years," stated Hahn. "We've always thought it would make a nice addition to Forest Preserve holdings."

This new addition is the eighth purchase made by the Lake County

Forest Preserve using funds from the referendum. The referendum has enabled the Forest Preserve to increase its holdings by over 751 acres since last year. Total acreage embraced by the Forest Preserve amounts to 21,545 acres.

The purchase also adds to the Des Plaines River Greenway which covers approximately 7,500 acres and represents 88 percent of the land along the river.

Lake Carina, which sits on the site of a former gravel quarry, is about one and a half miles north of the 1,110-acre Independence Grove Forest Preserve near Libertyville. It is adjacent to the 156-acre Riverhill Forest Preserve.

"This new land buy provides a choice outdoor recreation spot along the Des Plaines River for fishing, picnicking and relaxation," stated Carol Calabresa, President of the Lake County Forest Preserves.

The purchase meets all of the criteria required for land acquisition by the Forest Preserve including the protection of wildlife habitats, the preservation of wetlands, prairies and forests, and expansion of existing forest preserves.

Hahn said a planning process will take place to determine how the site will be improved, and to insure that the property is safe for public use. He predicted that the land will be usable by the public within the next two years.

Hahn went on to say that the Forest Preserve is actively looking to acquire another 600 to 700 acres before the year is over. This determination supports the board of commissioners goal of preserving 40 acres for every 1,000 residents living in Lake County.

This diagram shows the legal location of a new forest preserve purchase near Gurnee. The site, located on Rte. 21 just south of Interstate 94 on the western shore of the Des Plaines River, is known as Lake Carina. The property features a 23-acre lake, small oak savanna, wetland and dry mesic prairie.

SWALCO chemical waste collections set

Residents interested in properly disposing of a wide variety of common household chemical waste items will have a number of opportunities to do so again in 2000. The Solid Waste Agency of Lake County (SWALCO) has confirmed three one-day Household Chemical Waste (HCW) collections for the year and is working to schedule up to four more drop-off events through the fall.

The one-day HCW collections target the cans of old latex and oil-based paint, wood stain, paint thinner, varnish, crusty driveway sealer, almost-empty spray bottles of weed killer and ant spray and milk jugs with used motor oil that accumulate in garages, under kitchen sinks, in sheds and basements. "Whenever possible, it makes sense to keep these items out of the landfill to reduce the risk of future pollution problems," stated Monica Duebbert, SWALCO Public Information Coordinator.

The three HCW collection events currently scheduled will be held at the following locations on the dates and times noted. SWALCO-funded collection events operate from 8 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. and are limited to Lake County residents only. The July-IEPA-funded event is open to any Illinois resident.

May 20 from 8 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. (SWALCO-funded event) at College of Lake County/Grayslake, Parking Lot 6, corner of Brae Loch and Lancer Ln.

July 8 from 8 a.m. to 3 p.m. (IEPA-funded event) Deerfield High School/Deerfield, 1959 N. Waukegan Rd.

Aug. 5 from 8 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. (SWALCO-funded event) at Wauconda High School/Wauconda, 555 N. Main St., Wauconda.

A variety of common but problematic household materials can be brought to a HCW collection day, including: old paint, paint remover, in-secticides, weed killer, used motor oil, anti-freeze, old gasoline, fungicides, furniture stripper, aerosol products, hobby chemicals, household cleaners, solvents, metal polishes, pool chemicals. Many of the materials collected at this event and other like it are used as a fuel additive in industrial boilers or recycled into a manufacturing feedstock.

Since fall of 1998, SWALCO has offered citizens 12 different one-day events to get these materials out of their homes through these special collections. The Agency funded the HCW collections held in Lake County in 1998 and 1999. In previous years, similar Lake County collections were co-sponsored by SWALCO, but funding for those events was provided by the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency. However, little state funding has been offered in the past two years for such events.

Business and commercial wastes, explosives such as fireworks and ammunition, propane tanks, smoke detectors and fire extinguishers, agricultural chemical and medical waste will NOT be accepted at any of the Agency's HCW events. Lead acid batteries (auto and boat batteries) are also not accepted at these collections. These batteries can be recycled at any retail outlet selling new lead-acid batteries.

Residents, especially those who may be moving soon, should take advantage of the collection events to remove these problematic materials from the home. Call the Solid Waste Agency of Lake County at 336-9340, ext. 1 for further information on our HCW collection events.

MINDING YOUR OWN BUSINESS

Don Taylor

Would of, could of, should of... reflections on success

Once attended a "success" seminar with an interesting icebreaker. To encourage the attendees to get acquainted, we were all asked to write down our biggest failure and then share it with other members of the group.

The answers included: marrying their high school sweetheart or not marrying their high school sweetheart; investing in a friend's business or not investing in a friend's business; taking a job offer or not taking a job offer; and buying something that went down in value or not buying something that went up in value.

Most of us have a few regrets from our lifetime of experiences. There are always a few decisions we wish we could make again. I would buy that 1962 Corvette for $2,400 instead of offering $2,200. Yes, there are some things we would have done, could have done, or should have done if we only had known the outcomes ahead of time.

Unfortunately, we don't get many second chances. Therefore, our best chance for future success is to avoid mistakes. Here are some suggestions I hope will be helpful.

You'll never be sorry...

For thinking before taking action.
For listening more, and speaking less.
For loving more, and judging less.
For always doing what is right.
For holding your temper in check.
For helping someone with genuine need.
For the time you spend with your kids.
For ignoring gossip and turning a deaf ear toward rumors.
For the time you spent increasing your knowledge of worthwhile information.
For thanking God for another great day.
For standing up for what you believe.
For taking time to vote.
For forgiving someone who has wronged you.
For rereading a good book.
For standing in a summer shower, getting soaking wet and breathing in the freshest air ever.
For being nice.
For setting high goals and working hard to achieve them.
For showing kindness to someone who can't help you in return.
For being the first to apologize.
For not lighting your first cigarette.
For not taking your first drink.
For not doing drugs.
For turning off the TV and using the time in a more productive way.

You'll never regret...

Keeping your promises.
Developing your public speaking skills.
Giving every new project your very best effort.
Forgetting where you started and concentrating on where you want to go.
Using your talents and watching them increase.
Paying the price for success. It's so much cheaper than the price of failure.
Writing a nice long letter to your Mom.
Telling your Dad how much you love him.

Abbott signs agreement for diabetes drug

Abbott Laboratories has signed an agreement with Takeda Chemical Industries Ltd., of Osaka, Japan, giving Abbott exclusive rights to market Takeda's new oral diabetes drug, ACTOS, in nine Latin American countries, including Argentina, Brazil, Chile, Colombia, Ecuador, Paraguay, Peru, Uruguay and Venezuela. Financial terms of the agreement were not disclosed.

ACTOS belongs to the fastest-growing class of oral diabetes drugs known as thiazolidinediones (TZDs). TZDs are insulin-sensitizing diabetes agents that help reduce the target organ's resistance to insulin and thus enhance the organ's use of its own insulin. This novel mechanism of action helps reduce and control blood glucose levels in diabetes patients.

ACTOS is indicated in the United States for once-daily dosing as monotherapy and in combination with sulfonylureas, metformin or insulin for the treatment of hyperglycemia associated with type 2 diabetes.

"This agreement allows Abbott to better serve the diabetic patient with our franchise of products, including ACTOS, Glucerna, a medical nutritional product specifically formulated for patients with diabetes, and the MediSense line of glucose monitors," said William G. Dempsey, senior vice president, International Operations, Abbott Laboratories.

ACTOS was approved in the United States in July 1999 and is marketed by Takeda Pharmaceuticals America Inc. Regulatory filings for ACTOS in Latin America will be made by Abbott Laboratories and are planned for the first quarter of 2000.

More than 150 million people are estimated to have diabetes mellitus worldwide, and of these, 90 percent are classified as having type two. In Latin America alone, more than 20 million people are estimated to be diagnosed with diabetes by 2010.

ACTOS is a worldwide trademark of Takeda Chemical Industries Ltd.

Abbott Laboratories is a global, diversified health care company. The company employs 57,000 people and markets its products in more than 130 countries. In 1999, the company's sales and net earnings were $13.2 billion and $2.4 billion, respectively, with diluted earnings per share of $1.57.

MEYERS ON MORTGAGES

by Gary S. Meyers

DOCUMENT A PAID OFF MORTGAGE, WHEN ADJUSTMENTS ARE TOO HIGH

What documents will the lender give you to prove you've paid off that mortgage? Is there anything you can do if your adjustable rate mortgage adjusts up more than you can afford? This week The Meyers Report takes a look at readers questions.

Q. I plan on paying off my mortgage soon. What papers should I receive after paying it off to prove that I'm done with my payments?

A. Your lender should give you three documents to signify that you are free of those monthly mortgage payments.

Tom Drozd, residential mortgage originator for Archer Bank in Chicago, says the lender will return the original mortgage document marked canceled or paid in full, as well as the mortgage note. You also will get the original mortgage release deed. If you are given the original right away, you will be directed to file it with the county recorder of deeds. Your lender may do that for you, in which case you will be notified that process is underway and that you will receive the release deed as soon as it is recorded. Then, you can go out and celebrate.

Q. I am retired and on a fixed income. Recently I was notified by my lender of an increase in the interest rate on my adjustable rate mortgage from 8 percent to 9.625 percent. That works out to an added $64 per month. I can't afford this kind of payment. What can I do?

A. The terms of your mortgage will determine your options. If your mortgage has a convertible option, then you can convert it to a fixed rate for a nominal fee, according to Tom Flanagan, sales manager at CNI National Mortgage in Chicago. Otherwise, you will have to refinance with a fixed rate, currently at 8.32 percent. Your lender should have explained at the outset that the interest rates on adjustable rate loans can rise, and usually do.

Q. If all mortgage are alike, why shouldn't I go with anybody who has the lowest interest rate?

A. Mortgages are not a commodity, no matter what anyone says. Before choosing a rate, find the right lender. There are so many programs available that the rate may be secondary to income or down payment requirements. Then there is the trust factor. Just because an ad says the rate is low, it doesn't mean that you can get it.

LIST

Wilson has been fighting peaker plants with his efforts focused in Island Lake.

As Island Lake was one of the first peakers on the scene, Wilson pioneered the research on all the various permits and procedures necessary to establish a peaker plant. One of the major issues with Island Lake was the extensive use of groundwater. Wilson, with others, was able to attract the attention of the Illinois State Water Authority, and alert them to the significant threat to the deep aquifer. The momentum started by this effort led to two bills proposed for legislative session in Springfield on determining the need for monitoring and regulating groundwater extractions.

•Edith Sieg

A relative newcomer to Lake County, after only one year, Sieg has made a lasting impression. When a developer tried to put townhomes on an environmentally sensitive parcel among large-lot single family homes, Sieg leapt into action. Her detailed research on appropriate procedure led the Libertyville commission considering the application to reject it based on improper notice to neighbors. The developer will have to reapply. Sieg has also worked with Geiselhart on the peaker plant issue in Libertyville.

•Jerry Martin

Martin frequently walks the Des Plaines River Trail between Gurnee, his home, and Wadsworth. He noticed man-made markings on some of the trees in an old flood-plain forest at the south end of the project. His investigations took him to the US Army Corps, the Wadsworth Wetlands Demonstration Project, Lake County Forest Preserve Development Committee. He had found a plan to cut many of the trees in the flood plain forest to permit creation of a wetland mitigation bank. At his insistence, the issue was brought before the Development Committee of the Forest Preserve, which has oversight of the Wetlands Project, where it was denied. The forest will be preserved.

•Richard Welton

In a special acknowledgment, Gurnee mayor Dick Welton is honored for his work as chair of the Stormwater Management Commission during the exhaustive work on the Watershed Development Ordinance. Under intense pressure from both environmentalists and the developer community, Welton used his sense of humor to good end in keeping the meeting under control, allowing thorough discussion of each issue, and allowing the commission to reach its own conclusions. It was a masterful demonstration of leadership.

The following individuals and/or groups have been nominated to the Alliance's Hall of Shame for their insensitivity to environmental issues and its effect on quality of life in Lake County:

•Organizations of Jack Martin

Under the stated goal of taxpayer protection, these groups have opposed libraries, open space initiatives, and supported development in virtually any form. The latest broadside by an "organization" which calls itself LIGHT essentially asks Libertyville residents if they'd prefer their blackouts during the day, or at night, and whether schools, hospitals or businesses should suffer more. In the words of the conservation group, it is this type of misleading argument, distortion of facts, and playing on public fears which typifies the rhetoric of these groups. It is also troubling to see what appears to be largely a one person campaign receive more attention and credibility simply by virtue of its unsupported claim to be an organization of many.

•State Rep./Senators from Lake County

Ordinarily, the Lake County Board has a good relationship with its Springfield legislators. This year's response to the proposed Lake County legislative packet, however, was a total and unwelcome surprise. Lake County, feeling the negative effects of the explosion of growth, presented Springfield with some well thought out proposals including school impact fees, siting regulations for peaker plants, and the ability to control annexation of unincorporated land by villages. The abrupt and complete rejection of these ideas was astounding.

•Lakewood Homes of Round Lake

During the creation of the new Watershed Development Ordinance, developer engineers were adamant that buffers around wetlands weren't necessary and wouldn't work, that these regulations would cost too much to be implemented, that they could provide better protection by engineering drains, sewers and swales. In the midst of the controversy, it rained, and the drains and silt fencing protecting sensitive Fourth Lake Fen failed, sending a cascade of chocolate-colored, silt-laden water in the Fen. It went on for weeks, and left the Fen with damage that cannot be repaired.

"Hall of Fame inductees should be proud to become part of a short list of truly publicly spirited individuals. Hall of Shame members may want to rethink their approach to some of Lake County's problems," stated Hollar.

VOTE

ty years, Sally Coffelt remains unchallenged in the primary, but faces opposition in November by Democratic candidate Mary "Margo" Nelson.

Lake County Recorder, Mary Ellen Vanderventer stands alone on the Democratic primary ballot, but she will be defending her title against sole Republican candidate, Tom Adams come November.

In the North Shore Sanitary District, Republican John R. Paxton, who is currently serving as president, is up against Republican L. Howard Bennett for a trustee seat in the 1st Ward which serves Zion. Democrat George Martin remains unchallenged.

INTERN

journalism, graphic design and Internet web page design and management.

LCIC is an adjunct to the M.R. Schroeder/Lakeland Newspaper Scholarship program established in 1992 for qualified College of Lake County students.

Operating entities involved in the intern program include 11 news weeklies, the Market Journal, NetDIRECT, Great Lakes Bulletin and Target Marketing Group.

"Young people interested in a career in communications are invited to submit their resume and tell us about their plans for the future," declared Schroeder.

The Year 2000 program will be coordinated by Neal Tucker, operations manager. Interested students should address their applications to Robert J. Schroeder, general sales manager, Lakeland Newspapers, P.O. Box 268, Grayslake, IL 60030.

In the 4th Ward, serving Waukegan, Vice-president James E. Swarthout is the only Republican candidate while Thomas A. Rudd fills the bill for the Democrats.

Only one Democrat has filed for judge of the Supreme Court in the 2nd Judicial District of northern Illinois. Larry D. Drury stands alone as Republicans S. Louis Rathje, Bob Thomas and Bonnie Wheaton do the primary race to determine who will have a chance to fill the vacancy of John L. Nickels.

Running to fill the vacancy left by Judge S. Louis Rathje in the Appellate Court is Republican John "Jack" O'Malley and Republican Pat Rice.

The recent death of Republican Circuit Court Judge Jack Hoogasian has left his widow, Attorney Claudia A. Hoogasian vying for the 19th Circuit seat against Republican Associate Judge Dave Hall.

A three-way Republican race is underway for another 19th Circuit vacancy left by James C. Franz. Attorney John E. Ridgeway, Gordon E. Graham and Maureen P. McIntyre are fighting for the "here comes the judge" victory.

The positions of Lake County Coroner and Lake County State's Attorney have remained unchallenged by the Democratic party, leaving Barbara Richardson and Michael Waller to stand alone on the Republican ballot.

Selected students will be employed full-time for the internship running May through August, working with professionals in their designated field and earn a regular salary.

Last year, five collegians participated in LCIC, Schroeder stated.

Antioch's Business Expo adds travel, hobbies, home improvements...and free trips to Las Vegas!

On Saturday and Sunday, March 25 and 26, consumers will enjoy the added ingredients to the Antioch Business Expo and Trade Fair which will showcase in the Antioch Community High School, located at the intersection of Rtes. 83 and 173. This year the Expo has expanded to include a wider variety of exhibitors. Collectibles will be featured, as well as Hobby Shops, Child Care, Crafters, and Health Care. Consumers will enjoy the benefits of demonstrations, free samples, free advice, exhibit sales, and the area's newest products and services displayed within the Expo.

An added bonus this year are the two trips that will be given away to glorious Las Vegas, Nevada. A trip for two (including airfare and hotel) will be drawn each day of the Expo. No purchase is necessary, simply enter each day for the best chance of winning. Each drawing will be based on the entry forms collected for that day. Entry forms are available in the area's local papers, local restaurants, and at the Antioch Chamber of Commerce.

Each year the show highlights the area's finest vendors to assist the handyman and the "not so handy man" with his home improvement challenges. Antioch True Value will be exhibiting and available to answer questions regarding home improvement challenges. Fortress Hall Exteriors and General Duct Cleaning are each exhibiting to enable the consumer an opportunity to discover more about their customer-friendly services.

Quilter's Dream, Home & Garden Party, and Tastefully Simple

can be found exhibiting their newest style of crafts and decor for the homemaker. Whether your priority is interior or exterior of your home, this Expo offers a wide array of vendors waiting to answer your questions and address your needs.

Food is always easy to find, whether you are snacking on "free samples" from one of the exhibiting vendors, or simply enjoying a delicious snack from the school's fundraising foodservice. So bring your questions, challenges, and appetites to Antioch's 4th Annual Business Expo and Trade Fair.

Free admission and free parking are just a few of the "free" services you'll encounter at the Business Expo. Consumers are asked to use the rear entrance of the Antioch Community High School and enter the school through the back entrance. Expo hours are: Saturday, 10 a.m. till 4 p.m., and Sunday hours are 11 a.m. till 3 p.m. Call the Antioch Chamber of Commerce at 395-2233 for additional information. The Expo is co-sponsored by Lakeland Newspapers.

A wide variety of exhibitors show off their services and products at the Antioch Business Expo.

A pad of paper, a pencil and a few dimensions is all you need for a custom designed deck debris, and dust mite problems.

• How often should this be done? Every 2-3 years.

• How much do you get out when you are done cleaning? Many pounds of dust, dirt, pet hair and construction debris depending on the age of the house.

• How long will the process take? The average house will take 4-6 hours to complete.

Modern Home Products to celebrate 40th anniversary and new millennium

Modern Home Products, Antioch, is celebrating the new Millennium and the 40th anniversary of the World's First Outdoor Gas Grill invented and made by MHP. To celebrate the first gas grill made in 1960, MHP has created a very special 40th anniversary limited-edition model. This collector's edition features a gray platinum solid cast aluminum formed grill with special 40th anniversary control panel decal and a stainless steel console with a special finish mounted on a platinum cast aluminum base. And with exclusive features like "sear Magic" cooking system. "Flavor Master" porcelain briquettes, patented designed stainless steel "H" twin burner, Nu Stone side shelves and "Gaslow" regulator/lead detector with fuel supply indicator, this is definitely a classic you'll want to own...and use.

For every one of these very special grills sold, a $10 donation will be made to the "Marine Toys For Tots Foundation". This is MHP's way to help needy children believe that someone cares, that he hasn't been forgotten, that the magic of Christmas hasn't passed him by. "With each MHP 40th Anniversary grill purchased, you will be contributing to a proud holiday tradition in America for over 50 years and a cause that truly makes a difference in the lives of millions of disadvantaged children each year," said Walter Koziol CEO, former Marine and inventor of the gas grill.

History of Modern Home Products

Modern Home Products was founded in the 50's by Walter Koziol and was one of the pioneers and leading manufacturer in decorative outdoor gas lighting for residential application. Gas lighting was marketed under the trade name Charmglow.

In the early 60's as MHP expanded its distribution channels and began heavy advertising, suddenly Charmglow became a household name. With the powerful trade and consumer brand name awareness, MHP changed its company name to Charmglow Products.

- 1960 The "World's First Outdoor Gas Grill" was introduced and marketed under the brand name Perfect Host. The Perfect Host was 22 1/2" round portable cart unit constructed of steel. Features included cast aluminum cooking grid, cast iron grate with char rock and was available in natural or LP gas.
- 1963 MHP introduced the "world's first" rectangular designed gas grill with a hinged lid.
- 1964 Determined to make the very best, the "world first" rectangular designed cast aluminum gas grill was introduced. Today, the popular design and rust-free construction leads the way in the gas grill industry.
- 1966 "World's first" cast aluminum double grill with a one piece bottom casting. With over 700 sq. in. cooking area and mounted on a cast aluminum scroll cart. First gas grill to receive an award for best design.
- Also, cast aluminum commercial gas lighting and gas torches were introduced.
- 1969 The grill and lighting divisions were sold to Beatrice Foods Co.
- The Koziol family reinstated the MHP name and began development and engineering for universal fit parts for the gas grill aftermarket.
- 1978 MHP went to market with a complete line of universal and exact fit replacement parts for nearly every brand of gas grill. Becoming the "world's first" one-stop source in replacement parts and accessories for the grill aftermarket.

In the mid 80's with the liquidation of Beatrice Foods, the gas grill and gas lighting products non-compete agreement no longer existed. It was apparent to the Koziols that the market was demanding "better quality" and "better performance" in gas grills. Meeting the demand, MHP began development and tooling for a new line of high-end, high-quality gas grills and gas lamps.

1987 MHP re-entered the market with a complete line of re-designed gas and electric outdoor lighting products in solid cast brass and cast aluminum.

1990 MHP introduced their line of superior quality natural and LP gas grills under the brand name "BBQer CHOICE".

How To Survive The Job Search

By Nancy Sakol

Q: I have been employed with a company for the past 4 months as a secretary. While I have enjoyed my job and the people that I work with, there have been recent changes in my life that have put additional pressure on me. I was called into the boss's office a few weeks back and was told that my attitude seemed to have been slipping and that I appeared to be short-tempered with customers and co-workers. I apologized for the abnormal attitude and explained about the changes in my life that were creating a bit of a hardship and therefore most likely being the reason for this. The boss was nice enough to ask if there was something that the company could do to help. While I declined, I apologized and said that I would make every effort to see that my personal problems remain outside the office. A few days went by when I received a call at work from my family out of state. They asked if I would move out there and start a new life, and that they would offer me support. I thought it over and agreed to wait until the end of April to make the move out east, and that I would stay on for as long as they needed to find a replacement, and for me to train that person. Yesterday, one week after I gave him the letter I was called in and told that it would be my last day, that the company decided to move someone from within the company that would require little to no training. Here I am 6 weeks prior to the time that I was planning to leave, with no job. I went and filed for unemployment this morning thinking that I would be able to collect, only to find out that I am ineligible for unemployment benefits due to the fact that I resigned my job. What am I suppose to do now? D.S. Mundelein

A: I wish I had the answer for you. My guess is that you should contact your family and make arrangements to make your move out east in the near future. Why put it off just because you have personal problems is no reason for the department of unemployment to issue you a paycheck. You turned in a written letter of resignation stating your intentions were to move out of state. You offered to stay as long as they needed you...not, as long as you needed them. Sometimes things do not work out exactly as we plan. If you are planning on going, go. If there is no reason to stay, why put it off till tomorrow when there could be a great job around the corner today? Good luck to you.

Q: How long do you have to work for a company until you get insurance benefits? I have some medical problems that I need to deal with and need to know when I am covered.

G.E. - Grayslake

A: Well, that all depends on the company you are working for. This is a question that should have been addressed during the interviewing process and prior to accepting the position. At this point, we are just assuming that your employer has insurance benefits. Without knowing who you are employed with, or how long you have been working there, I cannot give you the answer. The possibility exists that if you are in a small company, they may not have mentioned benefits because they do not have benefits. I would make it a point to go to the person that handles the personnel functions of the company, or the person who hired you direct and ask as soon as possible. If you are in a large corporation, the thought of them not having covered this with you, pre-hired, would be dumbfounding.
